1962-63: A Year of Progress

The 1962-63 school year was a period of marked change and progress throughout the world.

Science advanced on all fronts, as world-wide television was rendered possible by the Telstar communications satellite, geneticists came closer to solving the mysteries of life by breaking the DNA code, and scientists learned to produce milk without cows.

In a reversal of Cold War tendencies, the world saw Premier Khrushchev of the Soviet Union back down before a demand by President John F. Kennedy that Russia remove her secretly built missile sites from Cuba.

Pope John XXIII opened the Second Vatican Ecumenical Council of the Catholic Church in Rome, the first such meeting since 1869, and a supreme court justice called Rachel Carson's book condemming the use of poisonous pesticides "the most important chronical of this century for the human race."

Space continued to bow to mankind's progress as Commander Walter Schirra of the United States orbited the earth six times, and two Russian cosmonauts circled the globe simultaneously. The United States' Mariner II spacecraft passed within 21,000 miles of Venus.

American yachtmakers and the New York Yankees resisted the changing times by winning the America's Cup and the World Series, respectively, but in professional boxing, the heavyweight championship of the world changed hands in two minutes and six seconds of the first round.

And At Freeport High, Creation

In step with a changing world, Freeport Senior High School entered the 1962-63 school year with its construction program under way.

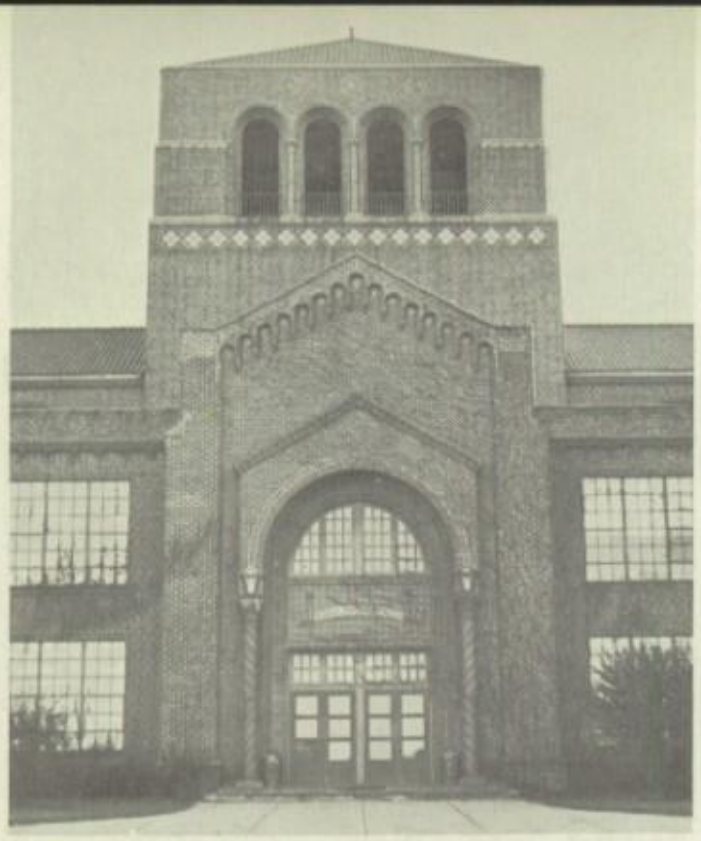
The campus, its majestic Spanish architecture and gently rolling lawn long familiar to thousands of students and community residents, underwent a sudden transformation into a stylish, modernistic setting.

The grounds came alive with the sights and sounds of construction: powerful bulldozers, giant cranes, and noisy air hammers. Low-slung beams appeared as forerunners of modern rooflines, and the school expanded, enveloping the parking lot, practice fields, and unused lawn.

New classrooms and a hall connecting the gym with the main building came first, followed by a library addition which greatly increased previous facilities, music rooms, a cafeteria, and an immense new gym.

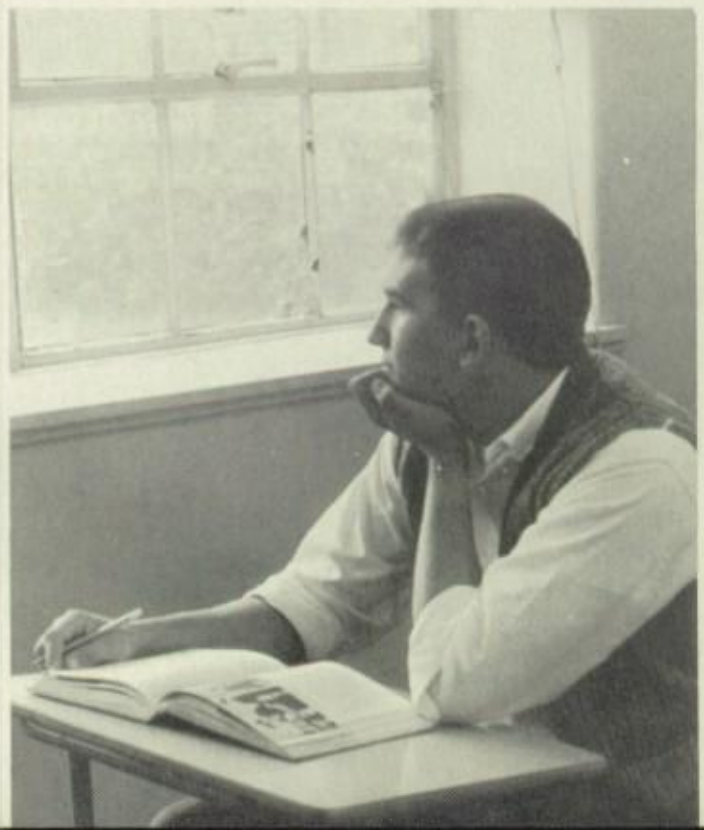
Sometimes the construction got in the way and seemed to tie up all traffic. The smell of hot tar penetrated into classrooms on warm days, teachers were forced to shout above competitive noise from air compressors, and recorded symphonies by the great composers acquired unwanted percussion sections from outside the windows, but visible progress on the additions was so rapid that nobody seemed to mind.

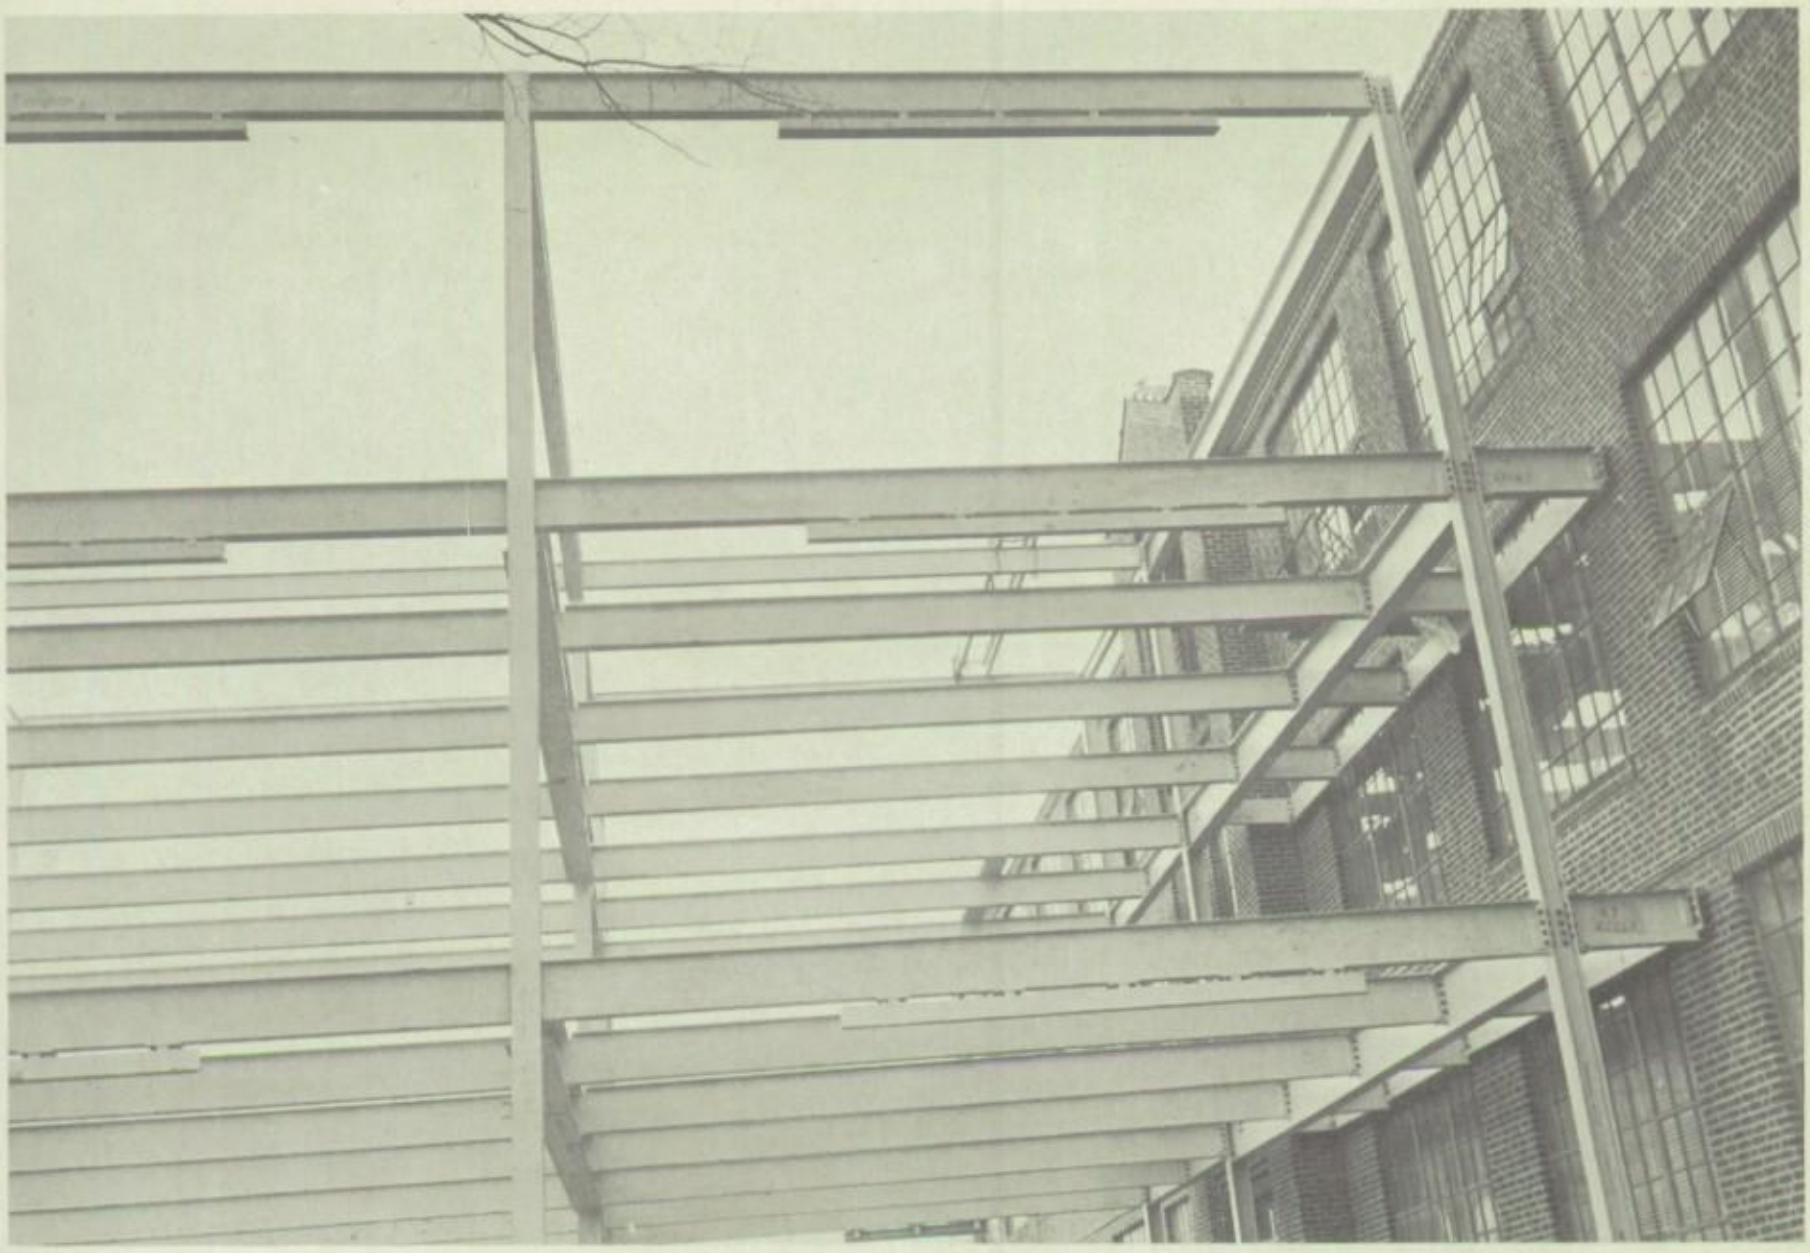
Freeport High changed and expanded in harmony with the progressive world, presenting a tangible and impressive tribute to a forward looking community.



The building at the left is Freeport High School, an institution devoted to education. An important part of the educational process is study, and so the school is well equipped with . . . . study halls. As seen in the picture below, study halls perform extremely important functions, such as lending moral support to the athletic teams and advertising post-game dances . . . . . .

. . . But the real purpose of the study hall is study. The student at the right is taking advantage of the opportunity offered in the study halls by diligently preparing his homework assignment.





Activity Reigns at Freeport High

Contributing to the air of activity which prevailed at Freeport High during the 1962-63 school year was the ever present construction program.

Over night the features of various sections of the campus were changed beyond recognition. New additions sprang up on all sides, sidewalks and parts of the lawn fell away, to be replaced by bright yellow girders, and later by new bricks.

Within the construction, around it, carefully avoiding it, the normal activities of the school progressed as usual, or perhaps with a little extra vigor, borrowing some of the atmosphere of dynanimity generated by the ever changing aspect of the campus.

One of the activities which reflected the progressive attitude inspired by the construction was the Senior Class Play. A mature and difficult play which is not often attempted by a high school class, "The Lark" brought much praise from the community upon its successful presentation.

Presentation of "The Lark" represented a change of pace in the type of play presented at Freeport in previous years. It was one of the many examples of constructive progress for which the year was noted.

One of the year's many athletic highlights came in early March, when the Pretzel basketball squad journeyed to the Northern Illinois University fieldhouse to take part in the DeKalb Sectional tournament.

On the Thursday evening when Freeport was to meet host DeKalb at eight o'clock, the fieldhouse and area buildings suffered a power failure which left the gym in darkness before the game could get underway.

After spending an hour and a half in an attempt to locate the difficulty, university officials postponed the game until the next evening, at which time the Pretz defeated the Barbs to advance to the finals.

Yearn to Dance Ignores Change

One thing left untouched by the sweeping changes of 1962-63 was the unanimous desire for more and better dances.

Under the sponsorship of various school organizations, dances were held after every regular home football and basketball game.

Two of the most colorful were the annual Sadie Hawkins Dance, to which students wore their farthest-out hillbilly clothes to twist, have their fortunes read, and get hitched by Marryin' Sam, and the post-Variety Show dance which saw the crowning of the beauty queens and the announcing of class totals for ticket and novelty sales.

In every way the year seemed inspired by the construction that was re-shaping the face of the campus. Not only did the old activities take on a new appearance, but entirely new events also appeared on the school calendar.

For the first time, the Student Council sponsored the Winter Olympics. Sophomores, juniors, and seniors met on a winter evening in the lighted Pretzel Bowl and competed in sled races, three-legged races, a tug of war, and other winter contests. The seniors won in points scored, but tied with the other two classes in fun derived from the newest of Freeport High's activities.

Board Directs Building Plans

Since the passing of the school bond issue in 1961, the school board has been meeting the challenge of the high school addition and the establishment of Freeport Community College, along with fulfilling its other duties.

Donald Jepsen, president of the board and Reuben Baumgartner, FHS principal, have stated that the board's main objectives are to give Freeport's young people the best education that is possible. "The board of education follows the directive of the people," Mr. Baumgartner said.

Keeping ahead of the growing number of students is the board's main problem. When the $1,650,000 bond issue was approved by the people, the school board immediately started planning for the addition to the junior and senior high schools.

Several of the board's proposals in regard to the new addition are a gym, electronics and power mechanics shops, a cafeteria, and a new wing to connect the present building with the industrial arts building. The board hopes to have it all ready for use by the fall of 1964.

The school board is the policy making organization in the school system. For the purpose of carrying out various designated policies, the board of education hires a superintendent. Hiring teachers, paying bills, and making decisions concerning the budget and curriculum are three important jobs of the school board.

Baumgartner Supervises School

Mr. Baumgartner poses on the newly constructed stairway in the section which now connects the gym with the main building.

Reuben A. Baumgartner, principal of Freeport High School for the last seven years, has three main responsibilities in his position.

Handling the administrative policies of the school board is Mr. Baumgartner's first responsibility. He is in charge of performing the duties that the school board assigns him.

Mr. Baumgartner is also responsible for hiring the teachers that the school board approves and improving on the curriculum and instructors.

The third responsibility concerns community relations. He is in charge of keeping the public, especially the parents, informed about school activities and policies which is accomplished through frequent letters and through speeches at various community affairs.

Mr. Baumgartner says that the school's purpose is to develop, to the greatest possible extent, the individual abilities of each student. He also feels that it is important that the students learn to get along easily in groups. It is his opinion that Freeport High School's clubs function effectively to this end.

Mr. B. talks over plans for the variety show with Dewey Meinders, president of the student council.

Organizing the honor roll is one of Mrs. Gruenau's many duties as Dean of Girls.

Mr. Reedy is shown in one of his less active moments, dictating a letter to Mrs. Lyon.

Deans Strive To Guide Students

Lyle Reedy, Assistant Principal and Dean of Boys, Mrs. Ruth Gruneau, Dean of Girls, and four counselors strive to guide the students of Freeport High and to help them decide their future plans.

Mr. Reedy's responsibilities are the general supervision of the school grounds and buildings, the student activity program, and discipline of the student body. He also conducts assemblies and works with the student council.

Two of Mrs. Gruneau's most important duties are helping with baccalaureate and commencement. She handles college counseling and recommendations, and also checks absences and makes out special excuses.

Serving as guidance counselors are Miss Jeannette Lloyd, Richard Lumby, Karl McWilliams, and Ron Norman. Their jobs are to help students decide on what courses they should take and to help students prepare for the college of their choice.

In addition to their other duties, these people act as guidance counselors to the student body. Seated: Martha McAvin, Jeannette Lloyd, Ruth Gruenau. Standing: Reuben Baumgartner, Ron Norman, Karl McWilliams, Richard Lumby, and Lyle Reedy.

Mrs. Miller and Mrs. Schoonhoven check over the absence list every morning before distributing it to the teachers.

One of the many duties of Mr. Ruthe and Miss Keister is coordinating the reserved seats and tickets for the school plays.

Personnel Keep School Running

To look after the various needs of the faculty and students, the high school employs three secretaries, a librarian, and a business manager.

Mrs. Patricia Miller types material for all school personnel and prepares the daily bulletins. As office secretary, she also operates all office machines, including the mimeograph, duplicator, and photostat.

As secretary to Mr. Reedy and attendance clerk, Miss Anna Mae Lyon checks and records all absentees. She is also in charge of the magazine drive funds and the work for the carnival.

Mrs. Florence Schoonhoven is FHS's registrar and secretary to the principal. Her duties include meeting and enrolling all new students and securing substitute teachers.

Mrs. Mary Ellen McPherson, school librarian, orders books for the school and advises students on their selection of books, as well as supervising the library. She is assisted by Mrs. Rachel Rutter.

Business Manager Vernon Ruthe is in charge of textbook rental fees, fines, and all organizational funds. He is also responsible for tickets to all school events, handles the selling of certain student needs, and assigns lockers. He is aided by his secretary, Miss Irene Keister.

Mrs. Rutter and Mrs. McPherson examine some books before replacing them.

Sheridan Supervises Cafeteria

Responsible for providing the students and faculty with a well-balanced and nutritional meal each day is Miss Genevieve Sheridan, dietician and supervisor of the cafeteria.

Miss Sheridan is assisted by 21 full and part time helpers, including five student workers, who conduct the cafeteria in the a'la carte fashion, in which the students may choose courses other than the plate lunch.

In a typical meal, 160 pounds of braised beef, 60 pounds of potatoes, 14 cans of fruit, and 800 half-pints of milk are consumed.

The cleanliness of the school building and grounds and maintenance of the physical plant are looked after by eight custodians and a matron.

Under the direction of Elwyn Jones, head maintenance man, and Harold Homan, night supervisor, these custodians clean all rooms and halls once a day, care for the lawn and parking areas, and handle all general repair work.

Miss Sheridan plans the cafeteria meals to provide students with a nutritious and well-balanced diet.

Cafeteria workers—A. Winters, E. Leemhuis, R. Tacl, M. Jenkins, E. Pinnow, E. Hildebrandt, L. Sisson, L. Schoenig, O. Hite, A. Wallace, H. Roth, L. Parriott, B. Murray, S. Haas.

Girls Learn Household Skills

Miss Lillian Matthiesen, head of the department, and Miss Sherrell Roberts teach courses in home economics, family living, home management, housing and home furnishing, advanced foods, and clothing.

Home economics courses deal with the study of foods, sewing, and textiles, while family living helps the student to understand his environment. Home management deals with the care of the sick and injured, while housing and home furnishing consists of choosing, planning, and furnishing a home.

In the advanced foods and advanced clothing sections students are concerned with a detailed study of foods and of textiles and clothing.

After preparing their food, students are required to taste it. Judy Hunt and Judy Wagand seem to be enjoying the results.

Bonnie Kuhlemeier, Ida Meier, and Evelyn Flickinger learn the methods involved in pressure cookery.

Senior 'H' classes read Shakespeare's "Macbeth" and other English literature as projects during the year.

English Courses Show Variety

Variety is the distinguishing feature of the Freeport High School English Department. Speech, dramatics, and debate are among the several varied courses that are offered. Journalism is a possible start toward a career in publications, while accelerated English courses stress the literature of Europe and America.

Headed by Miss Dagmar Hansen, the teachers of the English staff spread their abilities throughout the curriculum. Alex McKnight is head track coach, in addition to his duties as an English teacher. Ralph Enstrom, debate and speech instructor, also has charge of the concession stand at athletic events.

Miss Jeannette Lloyd produces the school plays and acts as adviser to Thespians. Miss Betty Burton is assistant adviser of FTA, Josef Spudich assists with properties for plays and with hall monitors, and Miss Edith Groom advises Philos.

New teachers in the English Department are Miss Adreane Lorenz, who serves as sophomore class adviser, and Mrs. Terrence Mueller, publications adviser.

The participation of English teachers in these activities makes the department an important part of the school's extra-curricular activities, besides being a basic necessity to the scholastic schedule.

Robert Mantzke experiences frustration common to many sophomores as he takes in Mr. Enstrom's comments on his speech.

Science Program Accelerated

In an effort to keep pace with the ever-growing need for well qualified scientists, two accelerated science courses have been added.

PSSC, a college preparatory course in physics which was formed by the Physical Science Study Committee, a group composed of high school and college physics teachers, is considered superior to the regular physics course.

Science seminar, a senior course for students outstanding in the field of science, provides students an opportunity to pursue their own individual projects. Both new courses are taught by Edsel Langdon.

In the field of chemistry, classes are instructed by Edward Doemland and John Hull. This year, for the first time, there was a chemistry class composed entirely of accelerated sophomores. Students of chemistry are given a broad background by combining textbook material with laboratory exercises.

Biology, the science of life, is taught by Carey Farr, Karl McWilliams, Charles Evans, and Vernon Bokemeier. In this course, students study plant and animal life from the lowest form of bacteria to the anatomy of human beings.

Along with these specialized courses, the basic science courses B, P, and C are also offered, each of which is taken during only one semester and satisfied one-half of the school's science requirement.

The Science Department has been steadily increasing in size for the past several years, and this year found it necessary to move into two new classrooms.

Students study a prepared specimen on a microscope slide.

Aspiring chemists Anne Woodhouse and Jim Young practice precision measurement before beginning an experiment.

Chemistry classes supplement their classwork with weekly lab periods in which students perform outlined experiments.

Students Examine World Trends

This is the second year of an experiment with team teaching at FHS. Under this program American literature classes taught by Miss Adrienne Lorenz and Alex McKnight meet several times during the year with the U. S. History classes under the instruction of George Martin and Doctor Evans. In this way the course attempts to achieve a more thorough knowledge of history through literature and a greater appreciation of the relationship between the two subjects.

In Miss Helen Hamil's U. S. History classes, students study the development of America from the constitution to the problems of the cold war.

William Chance teaches sociology, the study of relationships between people. In this course, students inquire into the causes of social problems such as divorce and juvenile delinquency.

Under the direction of John Hamilton, students study world history and the history of political thought. World history is offered to sophomores and juniors. This year the history of political thought class contained only ten seniors who studied the political philosophies from Plato to those of the modern day.

Art, Music Enrich Curriculum

Included in the Fine Arts Department at FHS are art and music which can be applied to vocations in later life.

Art may prove to be helpful to students planning to make a career of teaching art or commercial design, while music gives students a chance to develop their talents and interests in this field.

Miss Rosalee Rockman serves as art faculty adviser and assists with the prom and carnival. Mrs. Lucille Madden teaches the craft courses and is in charge of stage designs and construction for the class plays.

The Freeport Senior High Music Department is divided into various areas which include orchestra, band, and vocal music.

Advising the music arrangements for school activities at which music is played by the orchestra is one of Ernest Seeman's most important duties.

Miss Dorothy Nelson serves as vocal music supervisor. She also directs A Capella Choir, and is responsible for all vocal music arrangements. "Advising Madrigals," "Sweet Sixteens," and the "Varsity Singers" is another of Miss Nelson's duties.

"The Madrigals," a girls' and boys' group, and the "Varsity Singers," a boys' ensemble, are the new additions to the vocal music department this year.

Mrs. Sheila Doden, new at FHS this year, directs both boys' and girls' glee clubs.

Math Utilizes Teaching Aids

New teaching equipment, term papers, and additions to the curriculum were important aspects in the Math Department this year.

With aid from the NEDA, National Educational Defense Act, the department was able to purchase a math typewriter, an overhead projector, and a binary computer. With this equipment students are able to work more effectively toward understanding mathematical concepts.

Experiments with a teaching machine, TEMAC, were conducted with the general math students. This individual project is intended to supplement and enrich the regular curriculum. The course utilizing TEMAC is composed of five books which, upon completion, are comparable in content to the present algebra 1 and 2 courses.

A new accelerated course consisting of analytical geometry and calculus was offered to seniors who took algebra 3 and 4 as sophomores. Also, a remedial course was offered, designed to strengthen the mathematics background of weak students.

The other courses rounding out the math curriculum were general math, consumer math, trigonometry, college algebra, geometry and calculus.

Bernard Bartholomew heads a staff of seven math teachers whose classrooms are on all floors of the building, including the newly constructed section.

Mr. Boltie demonstrates the use of the plane table to his geometry class. The classes met outdoors for several weeks during the spring to do survey work.

Jan Donaldson and Bill Ward get some help with a trig problem from Mr. Bartholomew as Denny Holsinger ponders the text.

Languages Keep Up With Change

Included in the foreign language curriculum at FHS are French, German, Latin, and Spanish. Various teaching methods are employed within the language department.

Records which follow the same course of study as that established by the book are available to French students. These records enable the student to speak the language correctly.

One actitvity of the French classes this year was a field trip to Chicago to observe the art collection of Versailles. Teaching French is Mrs. Mary Collins.

Conversations performed before the class is the method employed by Wilhelm Eck to increase the fluency of his German students. Mr. Eck, a native German, also taught one Latin class this year.

Miss Mabel Bowers uses considerable board work and oral reading in her Latin classes. Because of the large number of students wishing to continue in Latin, it became necessary to have separate third and fourth year classes for the first time in several years.

Tape recordings, records, films, and the singing of songs are used in Miss Dorothea Schmidt's and Mrs. Mardelle Voigt's Spanish classes as aids in understanding the language and culture of Spanish speaking countries.

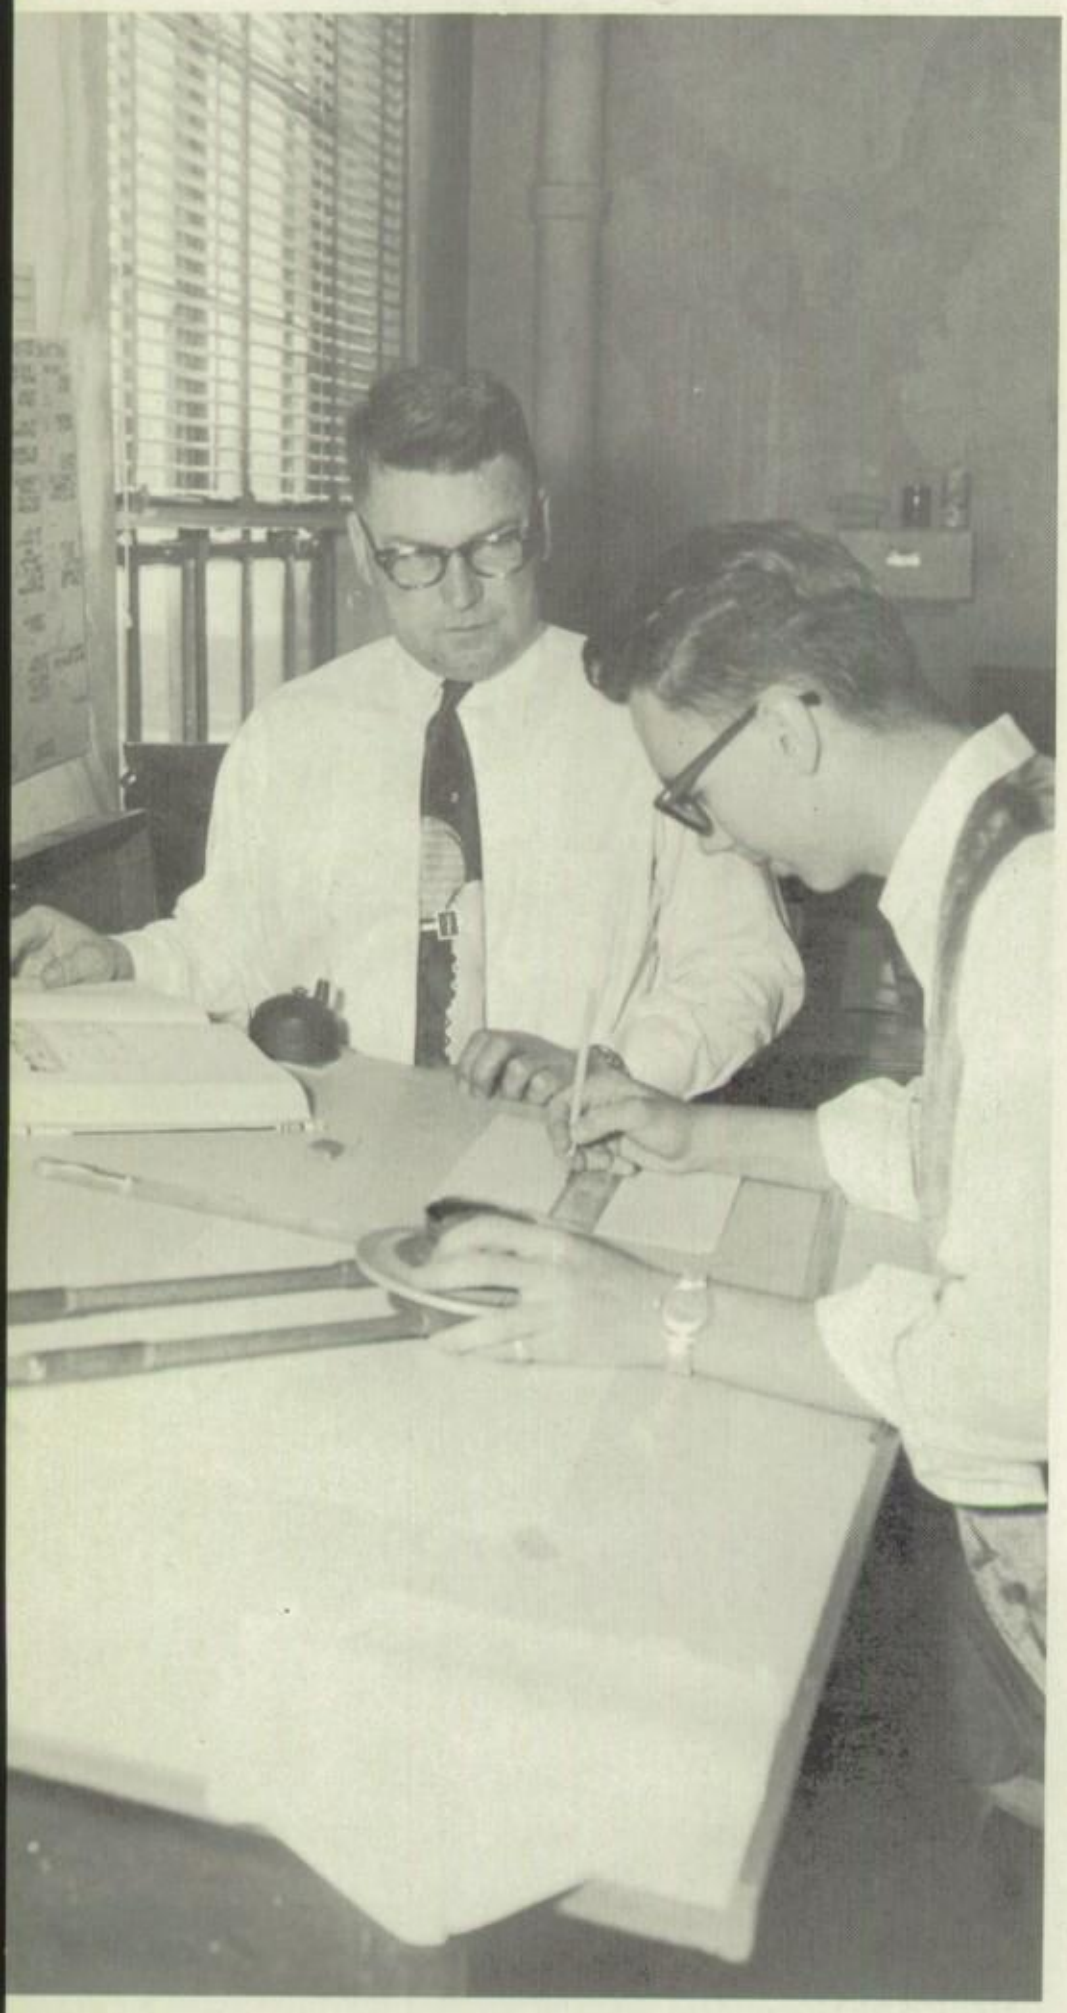
Shop Courses Range Widely



Technical courses which cover wood and metal working, electronics, and drafting are offered by the Industrial Arts department.

Courses range from basic instruction in the fundamentals of shopwork to the highly advanced course in vocational machine shop, in which students spend a large part of the school day working on advanced projects. This course is for the student planning a career in mechanics.

Physical education classes at FHS participate in a wide variety of activities during the school year.

Swimming is required for all students for three weeks each semester. Fall sports include touch football and soccer for the boys, and field hockey and speed-a-way for the girls.

Health, safety, and first aid, as well as civil defense for the girls, are offered during the winter months. Basketball and volleyball are also main activities throughout the winter for both boys and girls.

Also, the girls play arial darts, deck tennis, and badminton at various times throughout the year, while the boys participate in tumbling and wrestling.

During the spring the boys concern themselves with track and softball. The girls also engage in softball at the sophomore level, while the juniors are concerned with archery and the seniors with tennis.

Girl's physical education teachers, Miss Heiland and Miss McBride, strive to achieve an all-around girl who has acquired poise and gracefulness as well as good sportsmanship and the ability to understand and play games well.

In the boy's classes, Mr. Allen, Mr. Benefiel, Mr. Johnson, and Mr. Norman emphasize not only the physical, but also the educational and emotitonal aspects of recreational activities.

Students Prepare For Vocations

Preparing students for their vocations and giving them a business understanding that will aid them in their personal lives are the aspirations of the commercial department.

Queen Announced at Assembly

The student body could feel the tension mount in the gym as the homecoming royalty and their escorts paraded to the center of the floor. Then the roof came down as Bill Chance announced the 1963 Homecoming Queen, Laurel Toelle. Laurie was crowned by Jim Kuhlemeier and Dewey Meinders, co-captains of the football team.

Members of the royalty were seniors, Diane Arola and Miriam Oltman; Pat Bear, junior; and Kathy Evans, sophomore. Following the crowning each class presented its homecoming skit for the royalty and student body. The sophomores did a take-off on the queen's coronation in which Queen McKnight gracefully accepted the crown. The Junior Class entitled their skit "Mighty Nate" which depicted the bloody football game to take place that night. Seniors presented a melodrama with large cardboard signs narrating the action.

John Young was master of ceremonies for the event and homecoming chairmen were Janis Guenzler and Terry Schoonhoven.

st of "The Lark" takes a curtain call after the Friday night performance.

Senior Class Stages "The Lark"

"The Lark," presented by the Senior Class, depicted the trial of Joan of Arc who was charged with heresy.

Affected by the political woes of her country which was at war with England, Joan claims that she must liberate France and finally acquires enough courage to do so. She confesses that she was commissioned by heavenly voices to lead an army against England. After receiving permission from the King of France, Joan leads an army against the English and defeats them on May 8, 1429.

After gaining other victories for France, she is taken prisioner by the Burgundians and is delivered to the English. Joan is then brought before the Holy Inquisition which pronounces her a heretic and burns her at the stake. Later her family obtains a revisal of the trial which proclaims her innocent.

The entire play takes place at Joan's trial. Beginning with Joan's early childhood, flashbacks depict the time when Joan hears the voices from heaven. The audience is then taken to the king's palace and views Joan pleading for an army. Brief scenes of Joan leading her men to battle at Orleans are also depicted.

The audience then views Joans' burning at the stake. During the final act the time passes to 1920 when Joan of Arc is cannonized a saint.

Miss Jeannette Lloyd, assisted by Hez Diefenthaler, directed "The Lark."

Variety Show Replaces Carnival

Co-chairmen and narrators for the variety show, Jan Guenzler and John Young take a bow from their sleigh.

Under the direction of Ernest Seeman, FHS presented two public performances of the 1963 variety show, "Winter Carnival," on March 15 and 16. The Senior Class decided to set a precedent of variety shows to replace carnivals that have taken place in the past.

Variety Show co-chairmen Jan Guenzler and John Young acted as moderators and introduced the acts as they appeared.

In the background against a setting of snow and ice were the class royalty, Dianne Pinnow and Dennis Leopold, seniors; Mary Bunchman and Lars Holtan, juniors; and Elise Rimington and Dave Lyon, sophomores. The closing number featured the royalty waltzing to "Fascination," played on the accordian by Dick Memmer.

After the show an all school dance took place in the gym. At this time class totals in novelty and ticket sales were announced. The largest amount was brought in by the seniors, followed by the juniors. At the dance Lyle Reedy announced Kathy Hayes as beauty queen. Other attendants were Patricia Bear, Susan Gassman, Miriam Oltmann, and Laurel Toelle.

The cast of the 1963 "Winter Carnival" come forward for a curtain call after the Saturday night performance.

1963 Variety Show kings and queens are introduced to the audience before the performance begins. They are junior king and queen Lars Holtan and Mary Bunchman, seniors Dianne Pinnow and Denny Leopold, sophomores Elise Rimington and David Lyon.

Hosts for "Winter Carnival" were Mr. and Mrs. Snowman, otherwise known as Donna Pratt and Rose Ann Ross.

Marlin Stebbins as "Chubby" shows the cast how to Charleston in the finale.

Junior Class Turns Back Clock

High-rioting and foot-stomping were characteristic of the Junior Class Play, "Turn Back the Clock." The play, presented on March 30 and 31, based on the comedy by Marrijane Hayes, drew the audience from the present day back into the time of "The Roaring Twenties."

The play opened in the early 1950's with a married couple discussing the problems of the modern age. When the curtain widened, the time was about thirty years earlier with the parents of the couple discussing their troubles.

The comedy was about a typical American family, the Palmers, who were having romance problems with their older daughter Evie. She was caught in a dilemma which involved choosing between Johnny Stone, the boy across the street, and Charlie Hill, the boy whose interests ranged from Evie Palmer to motorcycles.

After having an eventful party at which Johnny and Charlie fought over her, Evie decided to date both boys.

In the epilogue the audience viewed the couple of the prologue, only this time they glimpsed Evie's husband—Charlie Hill!

Bob Moss, Larry's father, seems shocked as his collegiate son drops his suitcases and announces, "I'm home!"

Meinders Elected SC President

Laurie Toelle states her platform for secretary-treasurer of the Student Council during the campaign assembly.

Campaign signs throughout the halls, students wearing candidate pins, and chants in the halls were all a part of the 1962-63 Student Council election.

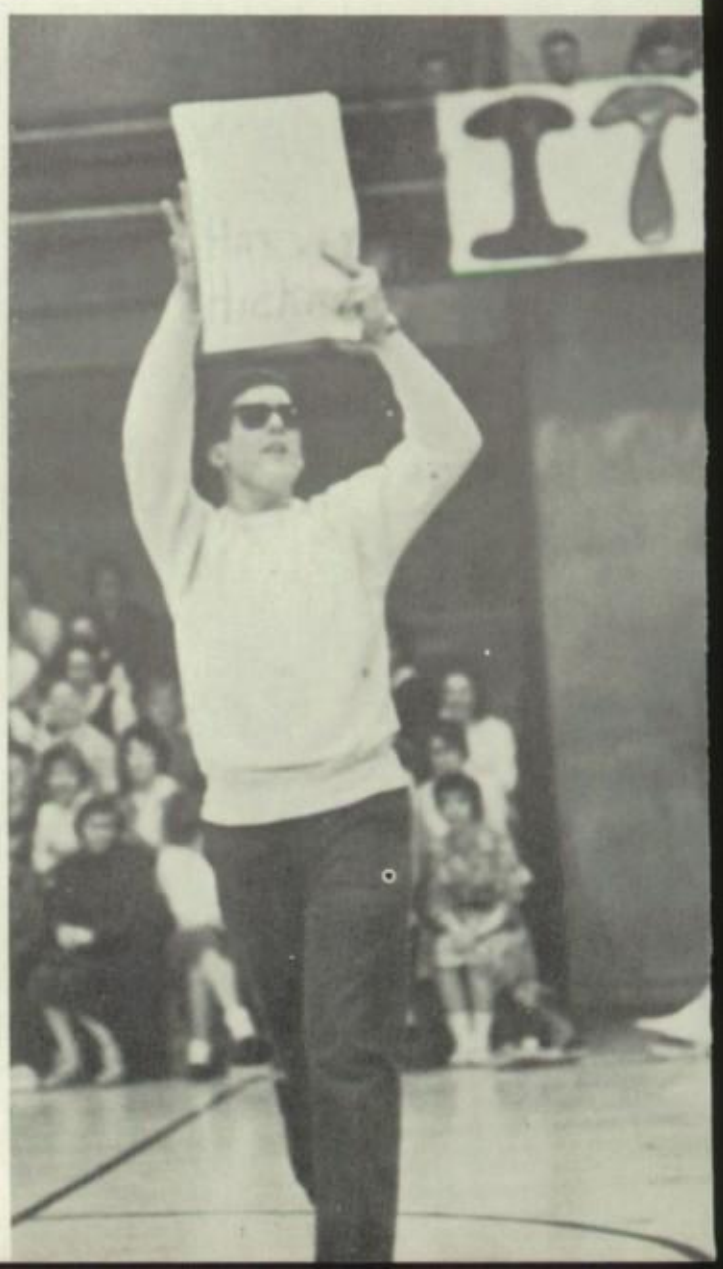
The candidates who presented their platforms and slogans at the campaign assembly were Bill Brunka and Duane Meinders for president, Bruce Ilgen and Mike O'Mara for vice-president, and Diane Arola and Laurie Toelle for secretary-treasurer.

Skits for the various candidates were presented by supporters and campaign managers.

The results of the election were announced the next week as follows: Duane Meinders, Mike O'Mara, and Laurie Toelle.

Diligent, Experienced, Worthy, Earnest, and Yummy. When you put them all together they spell Dewey, and the Meinders backers say it in song.

It's Bill Brunka vs. Dewey Meinders for the presidency of the Student Council, but this representative of the Beat Party is backing Harvey Hickle all the way.



Polaris Brings Fun, Confusion

As soon as the Polaris is issued, students flock to the halls to request authographs from friends and perfect strangers.

Polaris Day at Freeport High was held on Friday, May 18. At 1:30 p.m. students returned to their homerooms, where the '62 Polaris was distributed by the teachers.

After the yearbook was handed out, students and teachers remained at school for the rest of the afternoon in order to collect autographs of the faculty and classmates.

The annual Polaris Party, for the entire student body, was held on the evening of May 18 at McCulloch's Barn. Students spent the evening signing each other's books. Refreshments were also sold.

The colors of the yearbook, chosen by Jim Trunck and the Polaris Staff, included a metallic blue cover with the mosaic design copied from the FHS gymnasium. Color was also used throughout the entire book.

1962 Polaris was dedicated to Miss Ferne Kuhlemeyer, former head of the Mathematics Department and guidance counselor at Freeport Senior High.

Miss Schmidt carries out an FHS tradition by signing the books of her students Greg Rawson and John Heidenreich.

Everyone is informal on Polaris Day. Traffic through the halls is nearly impossible, but who wants to move?

At the climax of the prom, couples take their places to begin the grand march.

Dancers Waltz to "Moon River"

Moonlight and magnolias carried out the "Moon River" theme of the 1962 prom on Friday evening, June 1.

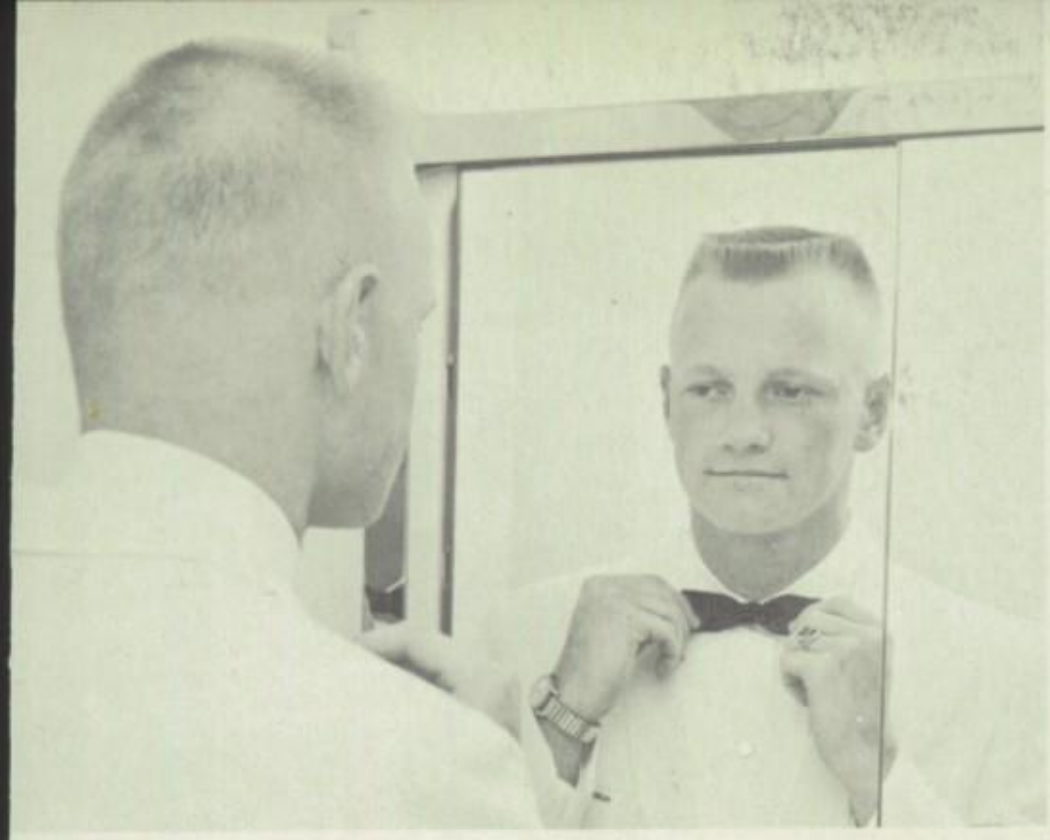
A mural of a paddle wheel river steamboat with authentic lights covered the south gymnasium wall. A park scene with blossoming magnolia trees surrounding colonial-styled chairs and tables camouflaged the north side.

Dessert was served before the prom in the cafeteria. Toasts followed, featuring Jack Bell as toastmaster. John Young, junior class president, welcomed the seniors; Dave Swank, senior president, responded. Keith Raftree spoke for the juniors on "Following in Their Wake," and Becky Boynton represented the seniors with "Rounding the Bend."

Dancing followed to the music of Larry Foster. At 11:30, Mr. Edward Doemland conducted the grand march, after which the promsters changed to more informal dress and proceeded to the Germania Club where the post-prom party was held.

Co-chairmen for the '62 prom were Ginger Gramley and Roger Gugger.

Prom committee co-chairmen, Roger Gugger and Ginger Gramley, not only supervise but also pitch in to help erect the decorations.



These are the highlights of the biggest night of the year. These moments will long be remembered as some of the most thrilling of the high school days. The tense preparations . . . the quiet dinner . . . the subdued gaiety of the final dance . . . and the quiet moments, after the ball.

The graduating class of 1962, their parents, and friends join in singing the National Anthem to begin the graduation ceremonies.

Speakers Interpret Preamble

"We the people," the theme of the 1962 Commencement, was presented by five members of the graduating class on June 5. The exercises were held in the school gymnasium.

After the National Anthem, played by the orchestra and sung by the audience and seniors, David Swank, senior class president, opened the program based on the Preamble of the United States Constitution. In turn the four speakers took a line from the Preamble as a challenge.

Tom Nettles called for constructive effort to insure justice and opportunity for all, regardless of race, color, or creed. Gary Evans recalled the dedication of our forefathers to the rule of co-operation through self-government.

The third speaker, Cynthia Martin, cited the determination of the writers of the Constitution to make the general welfare the aim of democratic government.

Marianne Madden, the final speaker, pictured freedom fighters in Hungary, Algeria, and Cuba, seeking freedom from totalitarianism, oppression, and dictatorship.

"This Is My Country" was sung by the senior members of the A Cappella Choir at the conclusion of the speeches.

Those last days before graduation are so hurried and full that you hardly have time to enjoy them or to remember that they are the last . . . and then, all too quickly, the night is at hand and the gym is packed with friends and relatives, the orchestra is playing, speakers are showering forth incomprehensible words . . . and before you're sure what's happened, it's all over. An old way of life is ended, and a strange new one is begun.

Pretz Pull State's Major Upset

Freeport came up with a handful of treys in the 1962 football season, the record being three wins, three losses, and three ties, good for a tie for fifth place in the conference.

Highly rated Auburn was Freeport's first conference foe. The Pretzels put together a superb team effort to defeat the Knights 6-0 in a game which was called the biggest upset in the state.

In a game marred with penalties, Freeport and Rockford West fought to a 7-7 standstill before 5,000 fans in Rockford's Beyer Stadium. Aurora East then played the spoiler, ruining Freeport's homecoming 7-0.

LaSalle-Peru defeated the Pretz 13-0 in the Cavalier's homecoming game, played in a steady downpour that was the cause of 14 fumbles.

Jim Kuhlemeier scored four touchdowns to spearhead a 33-6 victory over Elgin, and the Blackhawks of Aurora West handed Freeport its third tie of the season.

The pretzel Bowl was the scene of the final game, a 13-12 loss to Rockford East.

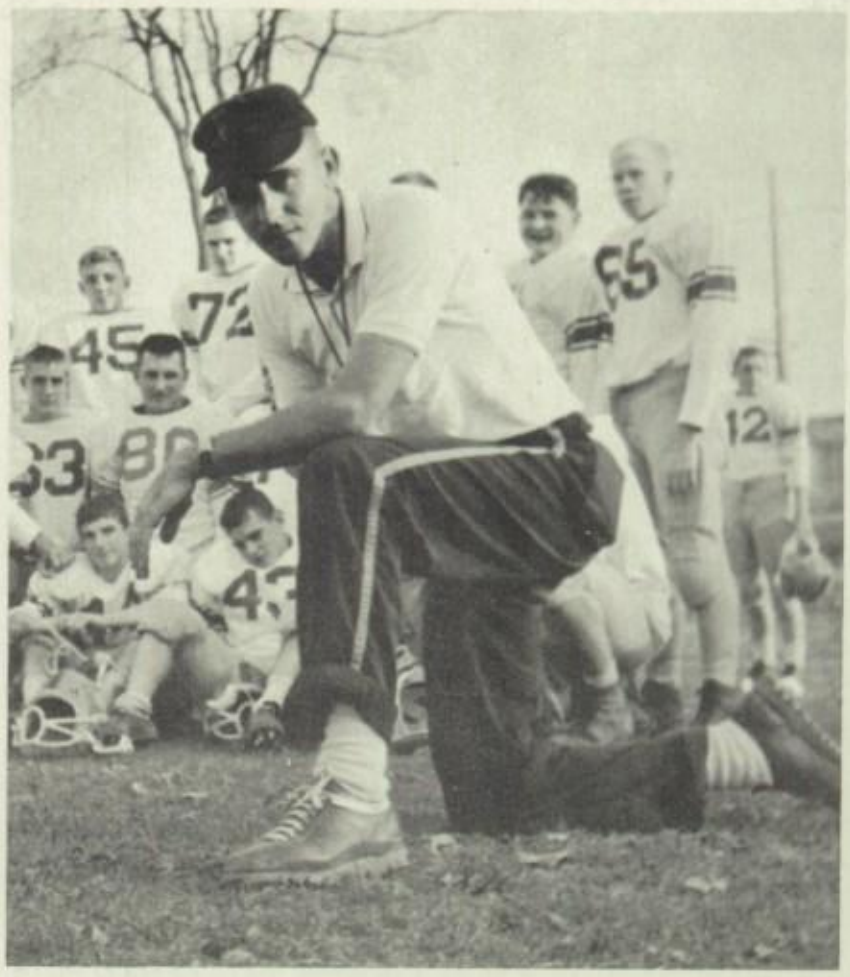
Sophs Take Conference Fourth

Up, down, and up again was the pattern set by the Pretzelettes this year. The sophs won the first three, lost the next three, then won the final three to finish with a 6-3 record and a fourth in the Big Eight.

Dick Rosenstiel, scoring seven touchdowns, led the team in the first three wins. Victories were over Rock Falls, 19-7; Monroe, 20-0; and a crushing defeat of the Auburn Squires, 41-13.

Freeport battled a stronger West Rockford team for three and one-half quarters on even terms before West pushed over two touchdowns to win, 14-7. In two close contests the Pretzelettes were defeated by East Aurora, 7-6; and by LaSalle-Peru, 6-0; in a downpour.

Elgin was the next Big Eight team to fall before the sophs, 22-7. Chuck Boeke led the team with two touchdowns. Freeport then defeated both Aurora schools, West, 12-6; and East, 7-6; the only score in this game coming in a 42 yard pass play from Bill Dreibelbis to Boeke.



Sophomore coach Farrell Benefiel has coached Freeport's underclassmen through five consecutive winning seasons.

Coach James Suffield, regardless of the team's losing season, pushed his swimmers to break seven of eleven standing records.

Ken Aurand set a new mark in the 100 yard breast stroke. Bill Gelwicks broke his own records in the 50 and 100 yard freestyle.

Dave Hancock set a new 200 yard freestyle record, while Greg Pash and Roger Shelly set new marks in the 400 yard freestyle and the 100 yard butterfly, respectively.

Pretz Gain Conference Second

The Freeport Pretzels, running up the best record in recent years, finished second in the Big Eight race and barely missed entering the Sweet Sixteen.

In the Big Eight opener Freeport rallied in the fourth quarter to defeat East Rockford, 48-45. Running the winning streak to five games, the Pretzels dropped Rock Falls, 44-37. East Aurora needed a fourth quarter surge to tie the Pretz, then went on to squeak out a 51-49 win in three overtimes.

Returning to the Big Eight race after the DeKalb Tournament, Freeport dubbed West Rockford, 60-47, and dropped a contest to Auburn, 47-41. West Aurora and East Rockford fell heavily to the Pretzels, 71-39, and 70-54, respectively. Freeport ran its conference record to 5-2 with a win over LaSalle-Peru, 67-43. West Rockford attempted only 15 shots in losing to the Pretzels 45-25. Falling behind in the fourth quarter, Freeport fell to Auburn, then rebounded and defeated Elgin in three overtimes to capture second place in the Big Eight with a conference record of 7-3.

Freeport won its ninth consecutive regional crown and advanced into the sectional championship game with Auburn. In the championship game it took an overtime before Auburn could subdue the stubborn Pretzels, 42-39.

Pretzelettes Win Big Eight Title

The Pretzelettes compiled a 19-2 record, best in 14 years, won undisputed first place in the Big Eight, and captured the consolation trophy at the Belvidere Tournament. This was the finest sophomore team since the 1951 state champions were sophomores.

East Rockford was the first conference team to fall, 60-52, followed by East Aurora, 55-30, and West Rockford, 55-33.

Rallying to pick up 10 points in the fourth quarter, the Pretzelettes defeated Auburn, 59-55. The eleventh straight win came over West Aurora, 56-32. With the victory over East Rockford, 67-40, the sophs surpassed the 1946-47 mark of 12 consecutive victories. Everything went wrong as LaSalle-Peru handed them the first defeat, 43-27. Victories over Auburn, 44-39, West Rockford, 50-38, and Elgin, 69-53, gave Freeport the Big Eight crown.

The Pretzelettes lost to Elgin, 50-47, in overtime, then defeated DeKalb, 55-51, to win the consolation bracket at Belvidere and finish the season with an impressive record of 19-2.

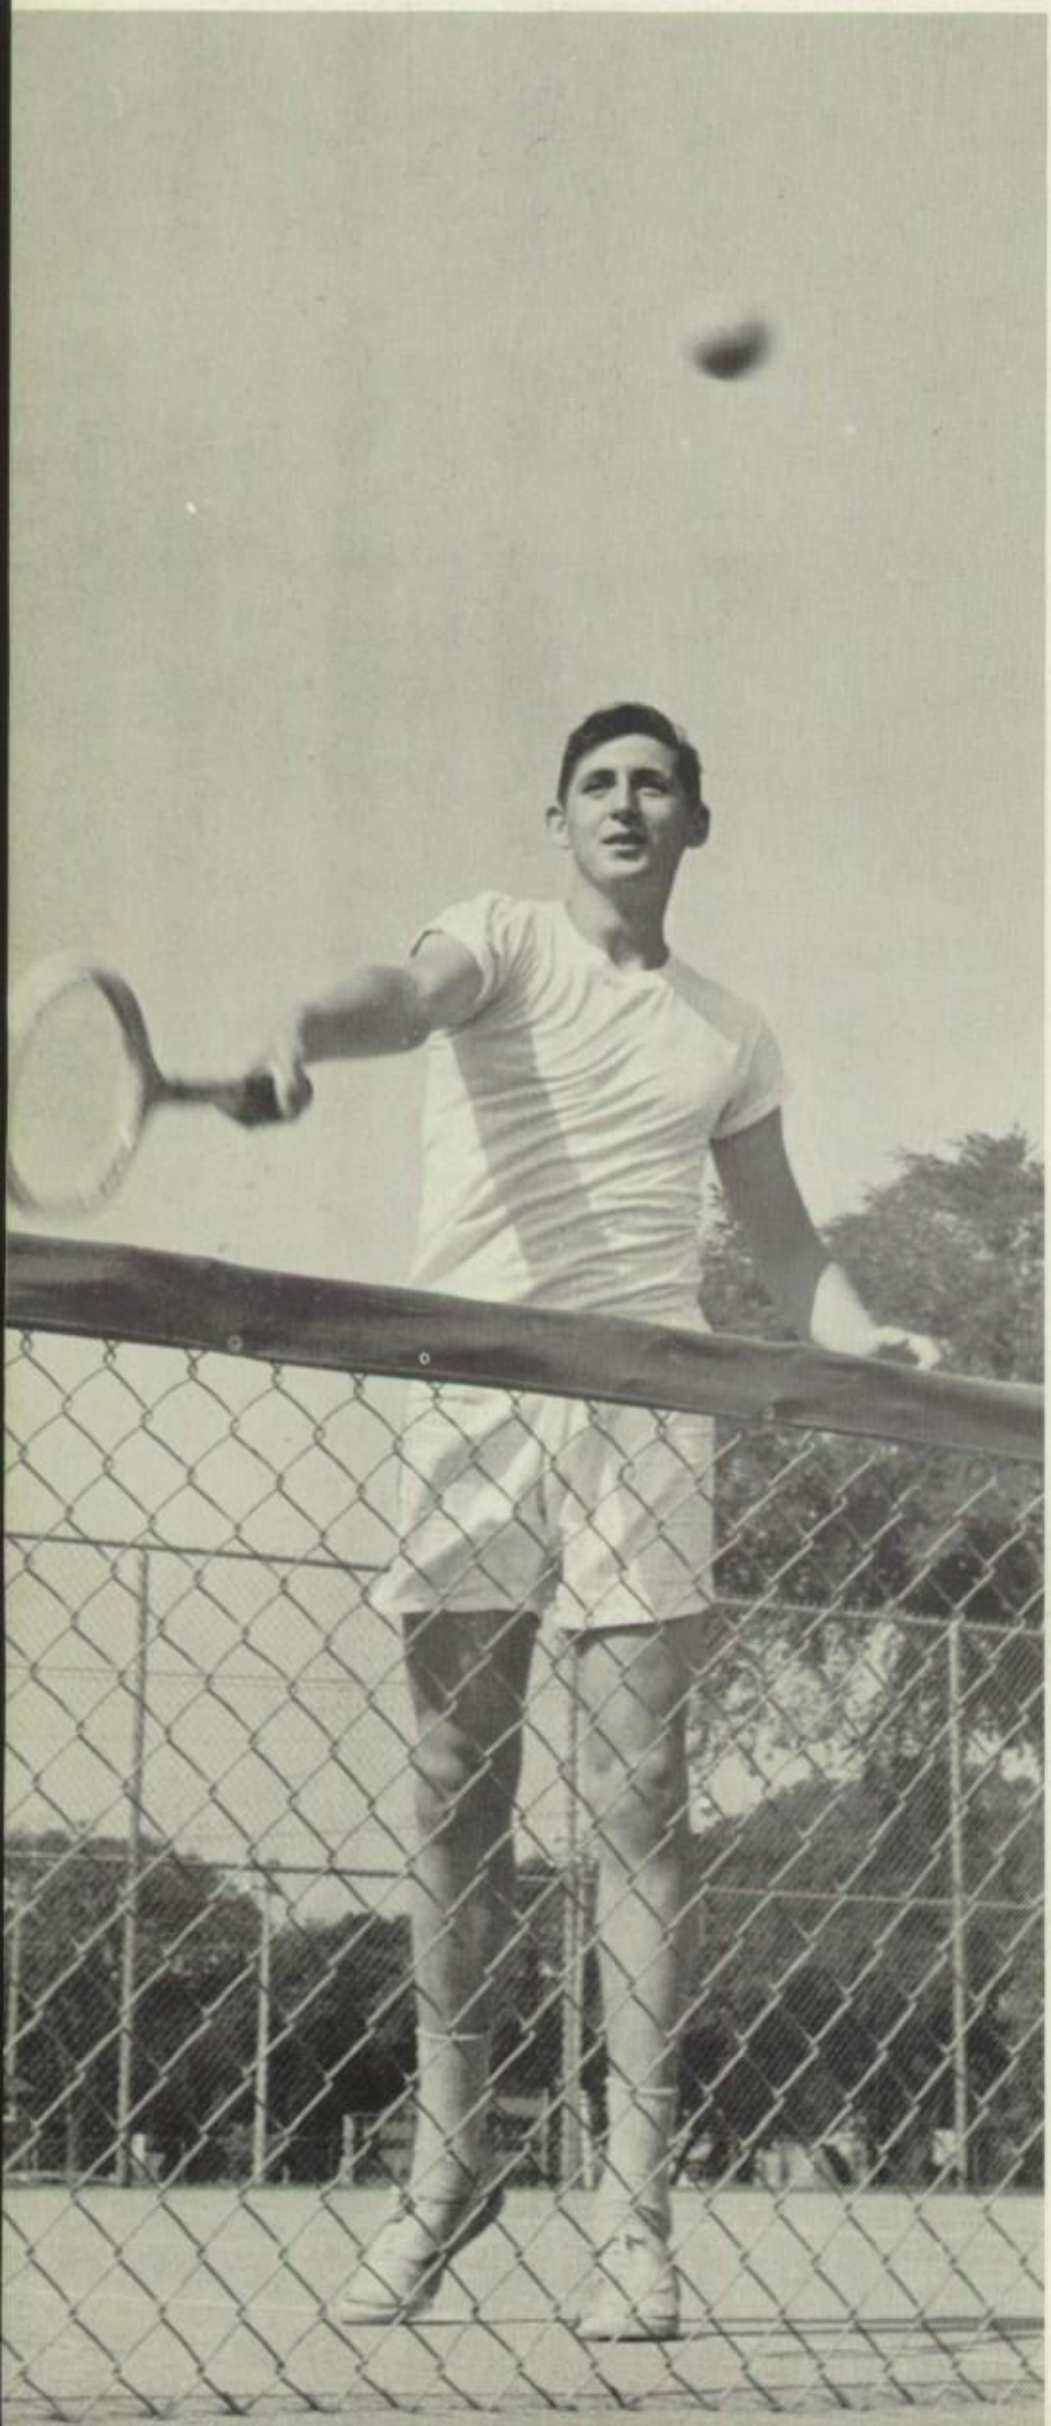
Netters Place Third in District



Although the record of 6-4 doesn't appear impressive, Coach Farrell Benefiel's tennis squad could be called the best in some years. The Netters just missed the district crown by three points and came closer to defeating perennial tennis powers in this part of the state than in recent years.

At the close of the 1961 season, prospects for the next year were good with seven underclassmen receiving letters. Hopes were dampened, however, by the loss of three of the seven.

Starting the year on the right foot, the Pretzels defeated St. Thomas 6-3 and lost to powerful East Rockford 3-6. Freeport then captured straight wins, overpowering Mt. Morris 8-1, whitewashing Rock Falls 9-0, and defeating Monroe 8-4. Sterling and Auburn defeated the Netters with scores of 0-9 and 1-8 respectively. The Pretz then recorded a win over Belvidere 8-1 and the second defeat of Monroe 5-2. The last dual meet of the '62 season was a loss to West Rockford 9½-2½.

Led by Bob Luedeke, Freeport finished third in the district with Luedeke gaining a berth in the state meet at Champaign. The season was finished with a fifth place in the Big Eight Conference meet.

Lettermen returning for the '63 season were Dick Beldt, Jim Bittner, Wayne Kiefer, and Doug Opel.

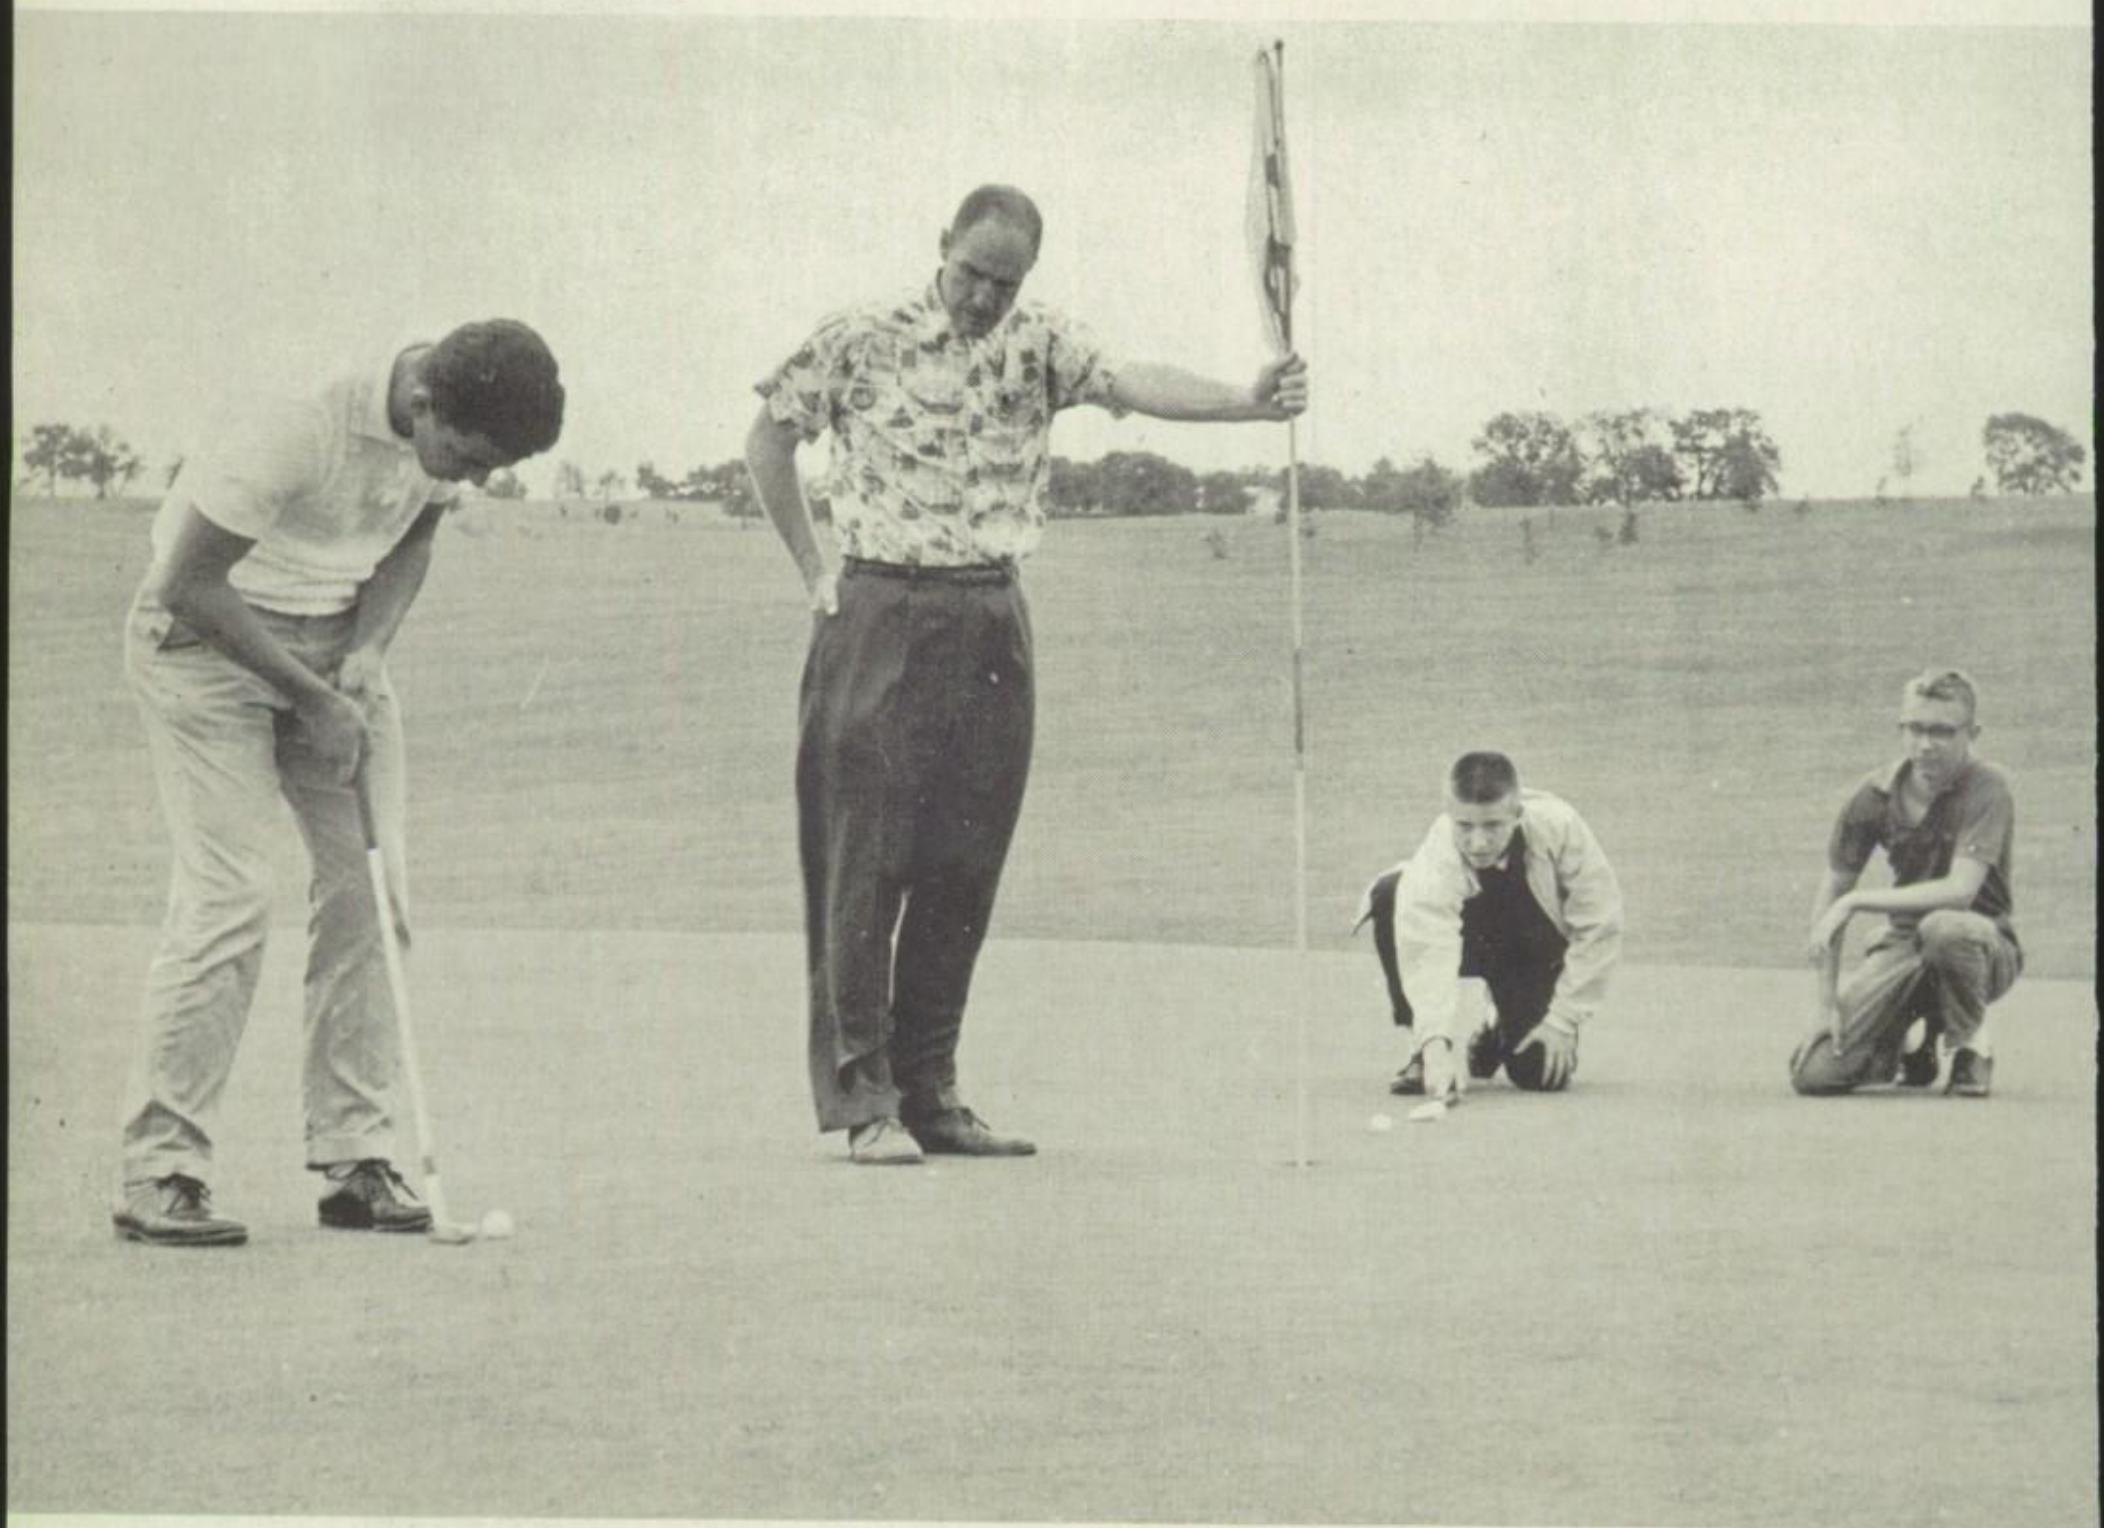
Golfers Capture Big Eight Title

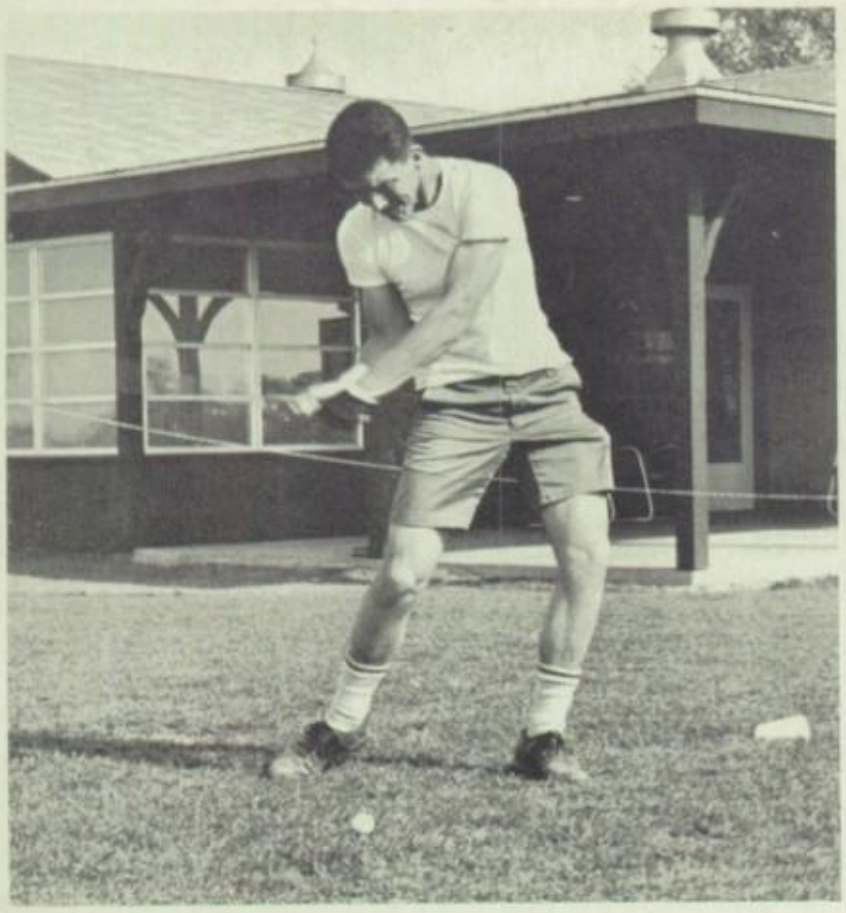
Under Coach Ron Norman the '62 FHS golf squad tied for third in the state meet, won the district for the second time in a row, and captured the Big Eight Conference championship for the third time in many years. Coupled with a 9-1-2 record, the season was most successful. The main reason was that there were four returning lettermen from the team that won the district Big Eight and placed 10th in the state meet in '61.

Perhaps the most spectacular of the many victories came in the Big Eight meet at Park Hills. At the end of the first nine holes, Freeport was down five strokes but rallied with a clutch performance on the back nine to come on and win by one stroke over West Rockford and East Aurora.

Elected most valuable player and honorary captain by his teammates, Roger Abbot carded a low score of 74 for the season. This score enabled him to place second in the state meet, only three strokes from first.

Abbot, Doug Bender, Frank Bergren, Roger Gugger, Ramer Holtan, Gary Kendle, and Bernie Russell received letters. Bender, Gugger, and Kendle returned to bolster the '63 squad.





Roger Gugger demonstrates the form that helped Freeport come through the season with a winning record.

Pretz Win District and Regional

One run was the margin that kept the Freeport High baseball team from the state tournament. East Rockford defeated the Pretzels in the sectional championship. The 1962 team was said to be the best in the history of the school.

In the first game of the season, the Pretz easily defeated Harlem. The Pretzels and West Rockford battled in a 1-1 tie which was then called on account of darkness. The first game that the Pretzels lost during the season was to DeKalb. Jim Gorski paved the way as the Pretzels reversed St. Thomas.

Freeport led the Rock Valley Conference for the first half of the season but then faltered and finished second to East Rockford. In the RVC Bill Brunka wiffed 10 as the Pretz defeated Harlem. Although Gorski went 4-for-4, West Rockford dealt Freeport its third loss.

Staying in the thick of the RVC race, Freeport first set back Boylan. The Pretzels reversed Auburn in 10 innings. In extra innings the Pretz lost its final RVC contest to Belvidere.

The Pretz won both the district and regional before losing to East Rockford 1-0 in 12 innings.

Pearson , Taylor Pace Cindermen

Rufus Pearson and Dave Taylor, destined to carry most of the burden for the 1962 track team, opened the season by entering the Oak Park Indoor Relays. Pearson recorded the best time of 5.5 seconds in the 50 yard dash, and Taylor captured second in the high jump with a leap of 6'0".

A lack of depth showed itself in the next two regular meets as the Pretzels captured the majority of firsts against Harlem and Sterling but lost to each.

Between these two meets were the Madison relays in which Taylor had his record breaking jump of 6'4", and Pearson took first in the 60 yard dash.

After losing a dual meet to Rockford West, the Pretz journeyed to the Rockford East Relays where Pearson became the first area sprinter to join the elite group who has run the 100 yard dash in under ten seconds. Pearson's time was 9.9 seconds.

Rufus Pearson climaxed the season by taking fifth place in the 220 yard dash at the state.

GAA Sponsors Annual Playday

On October 6, Freeport GAA was host to students from area schools which participated in the annual play day. The girls took part in various games and viewed a demonstration concerning the roving player.

Spring activites included a slumber party April 10. In May the annual Mother-Daughter Banquet was held. New officers were initiated and special awards were given.

In order to earn money to send a delegate to GAA camp, held at Conference Point on Lake Geneva, and to pay for banquet and special award expenses, the organization sold concessions at the regional basketball games.

GAA bowlers also participated in the Telegraph Tournament. The five highest scores were compared with other scores in the state. Freeport placed 18th in state competition.

SC Follows Improvement Policy

Spearheading the program of change and improvement at FHS in 1963 was the Student Council.

Convening in the fall under the leadership of newly elected officers Dewey Meinders, Mike Omara, and Laurie Toelle, and aided by Bill Chance and Lyle Reedy, SC set about solving the student's problems, carrying out administrative policy, and initiating new activity programs.

In addition to the regular homeroom representatives, the council appointed capable students as representatives-at-large for one month terms.

Student Council planned and sponsored the first annual Winter Olympics, in which teams and classes competed for trophies in the snow-filled Pretzel Bowl.

Supporting the AFS program was another project of the organization, which sold shares and put on a dance to raise funds for bringing a foreign exchange student to Freeport next year.

At the Northeast-Northwest Convention, Freeport was placed in the NW district as a result of a redistricting program.

Leading the Student Council are Laurie Toelle, secretary; Dewey Meinders, president; and Mike O'Mara, vice-president.

Student Council representatives receive an address by President Dewey Meinders.

Red Cross Entertains Orphans

Marcia Schirmer, John Young, Diane Wolfe, and Ralph Durham, organize parties as part of their duties as officers of Red Cross.

High School Red Cross, a division of the American Junior Red Cross, functions as an international organization which promotes understanding between teenagers.

Seventeen homerooms "adopted" children from the orphanages in Freeport. Each homeroom was given five dollars to spend on its orphan. Through the year the children attended the annual Christmas party, went to shows, and visited students' homes.

Another activity of the Red Cross was a record project, which was on an international scale. Members of the record committee recorded various musical programs at Freeport High School and exchanged them with students in foreign countries. That project helped to promote understanding and good will among nations.

The officers of Red Cross were Diane Wolfe, president; John Young, vice-president; and Marsha Schirmer, secretary.

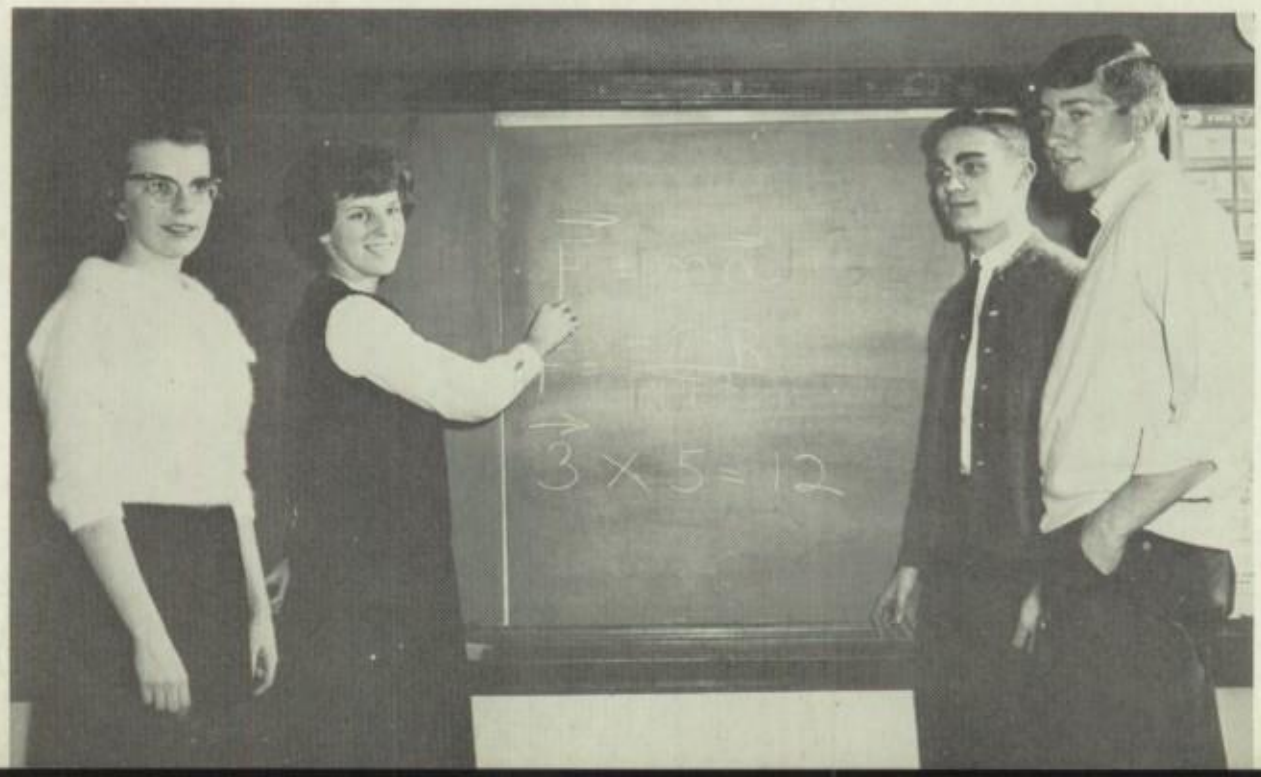
Honor Math Club Tours Micro

A tour of Micro Switch highlighted the activities of Honor Math Club this year. The club also sponsored a dance after the Elgin-Freeport football game, the proceeds from which were contributed to the Ferne Kuhlemeyer Scholarship Fund.

Advised by Mr. Ernest Boltie, the organization for students outstanding in the field of mathematics also increased the number of mathematics publications in the school library.

The 35 members of Honor Math met on the first Thursday of each month. The officers were: President Donna Doyle, vice-president Dianne Pinnow, and secretary-treasurer Jim Bear.

Honor Math Club president Donna Doyle, vice-president Dianne Pinnow, adviser Ernest Boltie, and secretary-treasurer Jim Bear run through a complicated formula.



Observers Enter Science Fair

This year the Science Club adopted a new name, Observers. This name was felt to be more distinctive than Science Club.

Four major projects which were undertaken this year included erecting an observatory, constructing a rocket, building an aquarium, and fashioning a computer.

In order to facilitate these projects, which may take several years to complete, four committees were formed. The committee chairmen included Jeff Carnahan and Terry Sueltman, observatory; Jim Bittner and Robert Earle, rocket; Doug Opel, aquarium; and Chester Homan, computer.

Several projects were prepared for the Science Fair at Champaign, Illinois, May 10, 11, and 12. A field trip was also taken to Chicago to view an observatory built by teenagers.

Officers for the school year were Kathy Bihl, president; Doug Opel, vice-president; Susan Osheroff, secretary-treasurer; and Jim Young and Dan Balz, program chairmen.

Supervising the grinding of the mirror for a telescope are co-advisers Edward Doemland and Edsel Langdon, while Sue Osheroff, Kathy Bihl, and Doug Opel supply the elbow grease.

Students View French Paintings

In November the French Club visited the Chicago Art Museum to see the "Treasures of Versailles" which were on display there from Versailles, France. There they saw many paintings and tapestries which were done centuries ago by famous French artists.

At one of the meetings Wilhelm Eck, German teacher who recently came to the United States, told the club about France's position in the Common Market. He also pointed out differences in the American and European educational systems.

With the help of Mrs. Mary Collins, adviser, a committee chose paperback books in French to add to their library. The money for the books came from proceeds of a dance, Bon Bon Can Can, given in November.

In the spring the French and Spanish clubs had a joint picnic and skating party at the White Pines.

French Club officers are vice-president Lars Holtan, secretary-treasurer Mary Anderson, and president Louise Pfender. Their adviser is Mrs. Mary Collins.

Founding of Rome Celebrated

S.P.Q.R. members observed Latin Week, the week of the anniversary of the founding of Rome on April 21, 753 B.C., by wearing colored ribbons denoting the year of Latin each was taking. During the same week the annual Latin Club Banquet was held. Toga-clad Latin students gathered in the school cafeteria to celebrate the birthday of Rome.

The club's float, entitled "The Die Is Cast," tied for second prize in the Homecoming parade. Latin Club sponsored a dance entitled "Trojan Twist," named after the people of ancient Troy, the legendary city which was destroyed by the Greeks after allowing the wooden horse to pass through its gates.

Officers for the year were Janis Guenzler, president; Lesley Opel, vice-president; Thomas Veal, secretary; Terry Schoonhoven, treasurer.

Pinata Broken at Spanish Party

A Spanish-speaking foreign exchange student was of special interest to members of the Spanish Club this year. Dick Kater from Argentina spoke to the club in Spanish at the October meeting.

Christmas activity consisted of a Spanish Christmas party featuring a pinata, a decorated figure suspended from the ceiling and filled with wrapped candy. Blindfolded students attempted to break the pinata with a stick, and when they succeeded, they rushed to pick up the candy which fell to the floor.

Miss Dorothea Schmidt, club adviser, and Mrs. Mardelle Voigt were the Spanish teachers. At the January meeting Mrs. Voigt told about her trip to Mexico.

"Febrero Fiesta" was the title of the dance sponsored by the Spanish Club in February. In March the fourth year students presented humorous skits in Spanish for the rest of the club.

Gathered around a reproduction of Spanish art are Spanish Club president Dianne Pinnow, secretary-treasurer Cheryl Ehrlich, adviser Dorothea Schmidt, and vice-president Pam Messing.

German Students Present Play

Discussing plans for the next month's meeting are German Club officers Cheryl Ibler, Jim Young, and Wilhelm Eck, adviser, seated, and Bob Moss and Rolland Lang, standing.

Wilhelm Eck, adviser of German Club, stated that the main goals of the German Club this year were to further students' knowledge and interest in German cultural trends and in developments in the atmosphere of friendship and togetherness and to gain valuable patterns for the formation of a personality picture.

Highlight of the year was the presentation of a German Weihnachtsabend or Christmas program for the public on December 19. A play, Weihnachten in Ostberlin or "Christmas in East Berlin," was presented depicting the unsuppressed Christmas spirit of the people of Communist East Berlin. A German band also accompanied the group singing.

A Fruhlingsfest or Spring Festival was held, featuring a dance floor surrounded by tables with a band on stage.

Officers for the 1962-63 school year were Cheryl Ibler, president; Jim Young, vice-president; Rolland Lang, secretary; and Robert Moss, treasurer.

Philos Help Promote Literature

Philos, under the advisership of Miss Edith Groom, had as its objectives the promoting of interest in literature and making available to the student body the best in paperback books.

The first of these aims was accomplished at the club's monthly meetings, when a program was presented which dealt with some phase of literature. The second objecfive was met by the operation of a paperback bookstore.

Philos began this year by electing Don Meyers as president; Ginger Gramley, vice-president; Nancy Coomber, secretary; and Gerry Roe, treasurer. During the course of the year, the group held meetings both at school and in the homes of some of the members. Slides, such as those which Mr. Spudich took on his trip around the world, highlighted many of the evening meetings.

On Tuesdays and Thursdays, the bookstore was operated in the library. At the close of the year, Philos initiated its new members; those juniors with a B plus or better grade average in English.

Thespians Build Winning Float

Highlighting this year's Thespian activities were the creation of the float entitled "Taming of the Cats," which took first place in the Homecoming Parade, and the sponsorship of a Christmas Tea for former Thespian members.

The honorary organization also entered in the State One Act Play competition held at Evanston on March 9. The play which they presented was "The Devil and Daniel Webster."

Initiation of new members was held at the annual Thespian Banquet on April 25. A picnic was held in May for the purpose of electing officers for the coming school year.

Thespian officers for the year were as follows: Marcia Schirmer, president; Donna Pratt, vice-president; Linda Crain, secretary; Todd Eberle, treasurer; and Sue Lofquist, clerk. Miss Jeannette Lloyd served as club adviser.

Allied Medical Aids Hospitals

Gathered around the podium are Allied Medical officers Pat Fischer, secretary, Alan Plapp, vice-president, Lorna Prasse, president, and Karen Dimmick, treasurer.

To acquaint students with the opportunities for jobs in the field of medicine is the purpose of the Allied Medical Club.

During the year club members were involved in various activities such as the Christmas project of preparing cookies and candy for the patients in Freeport's hospitals. Some of these members also did volunteer work as candy stripers at the local hospitals. After working a certain number of hours as a candy striper, a student was eligible to receive a pin in commemoration of her work.

The Allied Medical Club was sponsored by the Stephenson County Medical Auxiliary. Mrs. Edward Loucius was chairman of the committee which made the arrangements for the meetings and programs.

Club officers for the 1962-63 school year were Lorna Prasse, president; Alan Plapp, vice-president; Pat Fischer, secretary; and Karen Dimmick, treasurer.

Secretaries Visit Local Offices

Secretarial Club, advised by Miss Frances Ritzinger, met the fourth Tuesday of every month and had fifty members.

At one of the meetings Miss Ritzinger showed slides which she had taken in the East.

One of the highlights of the year was a trip to Micro Switch to see the new office machines such as the IBM machine. The annual club picnic was held in May at Krape Park.

Diane Wolfe was president of the club with Julie Homan as vice-president, Nancy Coomber secretary and Kathy Dickman treasurer.

Home Ec.

The Home Economics Club, advised by Miss Lillian Matthiesen, held its election of officers and initiation in September. Each new member received a candle which was lit from that of a former member.

During December the girls sponsored their annual Mother-Daughter Tea and sent a Christmas gift to the Kings Daughters Children's Home. In March the club planned a program for those girls who will be sophomores next year at FHS.

Industrial Ed.

The Industrial Education Club, under the leadership of Eugene Marks, took a trip to the General Motors Motorplant at Janesville, Wisconsin. There they saw how automobile engines are cast, milled, fitted, and assembled.

A hayride for members and their dates was held on November 17. The club also sponsored a swimming party, Christmas party, and a spring picnic.

Art Club

One of the chief aims of the Art Club was to further the development of the art appreciation and student participation in the field of art.

Art Club entered a float in this year's Homecoming Parade. The organization's entry won second place under the title, "We Can Win Eisel-ly."

Money earned from various projects paid for two original oil paintings which the club purchased for the school's art collection.

Club officers included Terry Schoonhoven, president; Rae Jean Bokemeier, vice-president; and Mary Lou Shuff, secretary-treasurer.

Social Studies

To further the interest of students in the social sciences was the major aim of the newly formed Social Studies Club, advised by Richard Lumby.

At one meeting Stanley Dougan, head of the Social Science Department at Freeport Community College, talked to the students on subjects which were offered in his department. As another program, a panel presented a discussion concerning capital punishment.

Officers for the school year included Dwight Schwendiman, president; Mary Anderson, vice-president; and Barb Sauer, secretary-treasurer.

FTA Hosts Regional Workshop

Future Teachers of America, advised by Bernard Bartholomew, was composed of 80 members interested in teaching as a career.

This year the organization sold Freeport High School stationery and donated 25 dollars of the profit to the American Field Service.

The FTA Regional Workshop, which 200 people attended, was held at Freeport on October 6. Other activities included the annual "Oldies But Goodies" dance, and the presentation of rose buds to all women teachers during National Education Week.

Pep Club Attends Away Games

Three-hundred members composed the largest club at FHS, the Pep Club. Probably the most important function of the Pep Club was sponsoring buses to every out of town game.

On March 20 a game between the faculty of both Senior and Junior High played a benefit game, officiated this year by officials instead of varsity basketball players, for the Pep Club.

Ribbons bearing such inscriptions as, "Lance the Knights," "Scalp the Warriors," and "Erase the E-Rabs" were sold the week before the games. Sweatshirts with an F and "Freeport Pretzels" printed on them were also sold.

Suzanne Koppein served as president; assisted by Dianne Pinnow, vice-president; Sylvia Schoonhoven, secretary-treasurer; and clerks Sue Lofquist, Sandy Weaver, and Jane Young.

Debate

Debaters from Freeport High captured the Big Eight debate title for the third time in four years.

In addition, Freeport gained sole possession of first place in the 52 team debate tournament at Augustana, hailed as the largest tournament of its kind east of the Rocky Mountains. Freeport had a perfect record of 12 wins and no losses to beat out the nearest competitor by one win.

A delegation from the Freeport debate squad also won the tournament held at Beloit.

Those debaters who earned 25 or more speaker points were invited to join the National Forensic League, an honorary organization for speech and debate students. NFL officers for 1962-63 were Doug Bender, president; Maynard Runkle, vice-president; and Peggy McAvin, secretary-treasurer.

Quill and Scroll

Quill and Scroll is a national honorary journalism society for students with a B average, 180 printed lines in either the Pretz News or Polaris or the equivalent in work, and outstanding journalism ability. At the Quill and Scroll Banquet held April 24, to which all journalism students were invited, next year's staff positions were announced. At that time new members were initiated by this year's club, and members of each staff gave a summary of the year's accomplishments.

The officers for the '62-'63 school year were as follows: Janice Lamm, president; Barb Kaney, vice-president; Nancy Coomber, secretary; Janet Carpenter, treasurer. Meetings were held monthly during the seventh period in room 113.

FFA Attends Cattle Congress

Future Farmers of America, more commonly known as FFA, is a national organization for high school boys studying vocational agriculture in public schools.

An FFA member may become a Chapter, State, or American Degree Holder, consecutively. Each degree a student attains signifies greater personal achievements in leadership, scholarship, and farm establishment.

Taking a fall trip to Waterloo Dairy Cattle Congress was an important activity of the Freeport Chapter.

Larry Beard served as president of the organization, while Ronald Colberg was vice-president; Dennis Bokemeier, secretary; Lawrence Nieman, treasurer; Roger Schultz, reporter; and Wayne Ortmeier, sentinel.

Ross, Messing Head Pretz News

An eight-page Christmas issue and a new column, Editor's Etchings, were two of the additions initiated into the Pretz News by editor Rose Ann Ross and managing editor Pam Messing.

Except for the special Christmas issue, the newspaper was printed bi-weekly during the school year.

On February 15 and 16, Rose Ann and Diane Wolfe, editorial editor, attended the Tenth annual Newspaper Conference at MacMurray College in Jacksonville, Illinois. Mrs. Terrence Mueller, adviser, and Dan Balz and Nancy Bittner, members of the journalism class, accompanied them.

During the year staff members prepared the juniors for next year by assigning them stories for the paper. With the aid of the staff, these junior journalism students published the last two issues of the Pretz News.

The Pretz News belongs to the National Scholastic Press Association as well as to Quill and Scroll.

Handling business matters for the Pretz News are Craig Miller, business manager, Doug Frank, advertising assistant, Nancy Coomber, circulation manager, and Joellyn Perry, advertising manager.

Polaris co-editors Gerry Roe and Janet Carpenter and publications adviser Mrs. Mueller have their first look at the '63 Polaris cover.

New Ideas Highlight '63 Polaris

Choosing construction as their central theme because of the additions being made to the high school, the '63 Polaris staff started planning the yearbook before school was dismissed in the spring of 1962.

Several changes and departures from tradition highlighted work on the '63 Polaris. A multicolored drawing was placed in the opening section. Senior activities, long a controversial element, were removed from beneath the senior portraits and placed in a copy block by themselves. The book was printed in a bolder body type than had previously been used.

Co-editors for the 1963 version of the yearbook were Janet Carpenter and Gerry Roe. Advised by Mrs. Terrence Mueller, they co-ordinated an all-senior staff of 15 division editors and assistants.

Groups Present Public Concerts

A Cappella and Sweet Sixteen, under the direction of Miss Dorothy Nelson, performed for various groups during the year.

A Cappella took part in the Thanksgiving Assembly, the Christmas Concert, and the Spring Concert. The members also sang for Stephenson County Institute on February 11 and, along with the band, presented a concert on February 23.

One of the major activities of A Cappella included participation in Tri-Double-I on May 1 and 2. Both A Cappella and Sweet Sixteen took part in the annual magazine drive in order to raise funds for contest fees.

Student Directors for the school year were Karen Kottman, Loran McKelvey, and Bob Moss, with Marcia Schirmer as accompanist.

Sweet Sixteen, was composed of 16 girls who participated in the State Music Contest on March 16. The girls also sang for the "Winter Carnival" and for the Kiwanis and Rotary Clubs.

Tryouts for "Sweet Sixteen" were held at the beginning of the school year. Any girl was eligible to try out. The group's costumes included white blazers and black skirts.

Two New Vocal Groups Formed

Madrigals and Varsity Singers were two new singing groups added to the Freeport High Vocal Department. Both groups were under the direction of Miss Dorothy Nelson.

During the year Madrigals, composed of six boys and six girls chosen from the A Cappella Choir, took part in the "1963 Winter Carnival" and went down state March 16 for the solo and ensemble music contest. At the State Contest the group sang, "You Stole My Love," and "My Heart Is Offered Still to Thee."

Varsity Singers, which was composed of nine boys selected from the A Cappella Choir, performed for the Rotary Club and sang "Moon River" in the "Winter Carnival." Members also qualified for the State Music Contest held in March.

Glee Clubs Present Concerts

The Boy's Glee and the Girl's Glee had a new director this year, Mrs. Stanley Doden. Her much needed help freed Miss Dorothy Nelson for extra time with A Cappella and the new music groups.

The highlight of the year was the annual Tri-Double-I Music Festival, held this year at Clinton, Iowa, on Wednesday and Thursday, May 1 and 2.

The clubs performed together in the annual Christmas Concert on December 9.

All the vocal music groups, A Cappella, Boy's Glee and Girl's Glee, and the Freeport High School Orchestra presented the annual Spring Concert, Saturday, May 11.

Accompanist for Girl's Glee was Marcia Derby, and for Boy's Glee, Barb Fortner and Cheryl Ibler.

A new curriculum, dividing the band into three performing groups, the symphonic band (90), the concert band (55), and the wind ensemble (40), was developed this year.

Activities included participation in the Northern Illinois University Band Day, Tag Day Parade, Pass, Punt, and Kick Parade, Tri-Double-I at Clinton, Iowa, the state solo and ensemble contest, and the Memorial Day Parade.

Under the direction of Ernest Seeman, the Freeport High School Orchestra took part in many events during the 1962-63 school year.

Members of the orchestra participated in two All-State Orchestras, the District at Northern Illinois University on December 1, and the Super at Peoria, Illinois on January 25 and 26.

In October the string section recorded a special one-half hour concert for WFRL. Students also attended the state solo and ensemble contest on March 16.

Sophs Initiated Into Activities

The Class of 1965 began its initial year at FHS by electing Todd Horstmeier as its president, Mark Horstmeier as vice-president, and Betsy Bingham as secretary-treasurer.

The first major class activity was at homecoming, when a large number of sophomores helped in presenting their skit in the homecoming assembly. The soph football team chose Kathy Evans as queen attendant.

During the weeks preceding the variety show the sophomores were kept busy selling cards and novelties, trying to pull an upset by out-selling the upperclassmen.

Sophomores also worked backstage on plays, took part in student council activities, played in orchestral and band programs, and generally gained valuable experience for their future years in high school.

Junior class officers Ellen Hartman, Bob Boeke, and Michele Loucius aid the construction cause by immortalizing themselves in cement.

Juniors Prepare to Take Over

President Bob Boeke, Vice-President Ellen Hartman, and Secretary-Treasurer Michele Loucius took on the responsibility of guiding the activities of the junior class during the 1962-63 school year.

After preparing the homecoming skit, the officers turned to the task of selecting the style for class rings which arrived around Christmas.

Juniors undertook an active part in publications for the first time in recent years, performed in the Christmas Pageant and provided music for the class plays. In the spring they presented their own play, a successful comedy.

In the spring juniors began receiving invitations to be initiated into the honorary clubs, and Student Council officers were chosen from among their ranks so that they might be ready to assume the responsibilities of leadership.

The crowning achievement of the class was the prom, planned and presented by the juniors for the seniors, constituting their final activity together.

Senior Class Officers, Bruce Ilgen, Pam Messing, and Keith Raftree try to make a lasting impression on the school board.

Seniors Assume Leadership

From the beginning of school in the fall, the Senior Class of 1963 assumed the responsibility of leading the student body through the year.

The class elected Bruce Ilgen, president; Keith Raftree, vice-president; and Pam Messing, secretary-treasurer. Under their leadership the class undertook the presentation of the senior skit in the homecoming assembly. During the assembly, Laurie Toelle was crowned 1963 Homecoming Queen. She presided over the assembly and the homecoming festivities which took place in the evening.

The class was priviledged to have an AFS student from Argentina, Victor Kater, and a student who had spent the previous summer in Germany under the AFS program, Doug Opel.

Seniors put in a great deal of time and effort in order to present their class play, "The Lark," but the final performances proved worth the effort and deserving of much praise.

With the coming of spring, seniors looked with anticipation toward the prom and graduation, but made renewed attempts to savor enjoyment of their many high school experiences.

Autographs
